INCITED

The simple laboratory experiments done by the chemistry student are valuable lessons in accuracy, reliance, in training the mind to observe closely. These and the wonder of ancient creeds and peoples, the unlimited scope of mathematics, the joy in art and music, all the things which we glean from our books give us a rich background. We are significant products of a democratic school system.

By KNOWLEDGE

physical director of the school from 1914 to 1942

This opening page of the faculty section of the 1942 edition of the Terror Trail is dedicated to Coach Joseph W. Erps. Loved and revered by all the boys on his athletic teams, admired by the students and the faculty of Colorado Springs High School, he has carried the banner of Brown and White to a national pinnacle. He has built up an unbelievable record: 95 straight basketball victories, the mythical national football championship of 1923, and seven consecutive tennis championship records. Mr. Erps placed particular emphasis on physical development rather than winning championships. Often referred to by sports writers as the "Rockne of Prep Basketball," he has instilled in all the boys who have had the privilege of his tutorage a fundamental understanding of the principles of fair play and sportsmanship.

Perhaps this is the most fitting tribute that can be paid him—"a builder of good citizens."

Coach Erps was always a gentleman, both on the floor and off, and will be greatly missed by everyone.

To the Colors

These are the men who have been called to the colors from C. S. H. S. Born leaders, they will strive to help their country as they have endeavored to help us. We shall never forget them, for they are helping to make the world safe for democracy.

A. Frederick Handke developed the debate history class, originated the radio class, and sponsored the Debate Club.

James Mason Anderson, new to the school this year, endeared himself to both the student body and the athletic squad in his brief stay by his fairness and abilities.

W. Frank Carmody taught his English classes and coached golf with equal ease. He had the largest enrollment of students in the school.

William W. Graham, another newcomer, did a swell job of sponsoring the Lever in the few months that he was here.

Robert H. Monroe, in the two and a half years that he taught Art and sponsored the Art Club, demonstrated his ability in his chosen field.

Office Is G. H. Q. For School Traffic

In the successful management of a school there must always be an office, and at the head of that office there must be an able executive—the principal. If the school is to run like a well-oiled clock, there has to be a strong and steady mainspring. It is the principal's duty to be monitor, leader, and a friend of the students. To fill this job successfully is as difficult as it sounds, but Mr. Roe fills his job very well.

No clock can keep perfect time without the timing wheel, and this is where our business manager, Mr. Eugene Anderson, appears. It is his responsibility to keep the budget balanced. He must see to it that all ticket sales campaigns, and other financial matters are well handled. Like a clock, an office cannot be smoothly run without some cogs and gears. Miss Ann Frike, the recorder, keeps the scholastic records straight, and acts as Mr. Roe's secretary. Miss Margaret Wiley, whose title is secretary, acts as bookkeeper and Mr. Anderson's secretary. If either Miss Josephine Schlotter or Mrs. Louise Wynn were to be dispensed with, the running of the clock would not be smooth. Miss Schlotter makes certain that you don't get away with skipping school, and Mrs. Wynn is the matron and social director.

The lifeblood of a nation—good speech and a thorough knowledge of one's language. That incessant practice on the uses of nouns, verbs, adjectives, adverbs, and such, and how to write a theme, paragraph, and phrase, may seem like slave-driving, but the rewards in later life thoroughly recompense the conscientious in self-confidence and poise both in the social and business worlds. A person who has had the opportunities offered to him, with no knowledge of the language of his own country, deserves no respect from people of his own or any other land. If you don't learn it now, it is extremely difficult or almost impossible to pick it up later on.

Senior English covers a study of the works of all the authors since the beginning of English literature. This course is designed to give a literary background to the future American authors and critics. and also helps the increase of cultural knowledge in other fields. Though not a required course, it is quite popular with seniors. It is also helpful in first year college work.

Education Is Incomplete Without Languages

Languages — for many students a medium through which they can study the customs of foreign people.

Since over fifty percent of the English language is derived from Latin, many pupils have found it profitable to take several years of Latin.

The essential need for Pan-American unity has brought about an increasing demand for Spanish. Helping to make the Spanish course exceptional are the copies of the "Selecciones de Reader's Digest."

The second year French class voted against subscribing to a French newspaper, as they were too expensive. They've been singing French songs all year and intend to record one and present it to the language department.

Many pupils planning to enter some science have found German an asset to their profession.

Whatever language a student chooses, he knows that by studying it he can better understand that nation's people and ideals.

Playing an important part in the nation's welfare, both in peace and in war, are two branches of Science — physics and chemistry. Vitally necessary to a country's defense are the products that are concocted in the test tubes and flasks found in a high school lab.

Biology and physiology are two sciences known for their practical use. The study of the simple forms of life, or the learning of the complicated jobs performed by the human body will always be useful in any profession.

A nation's comfort depends a great deal on the geologist, and industries would be helpless without him. For it is the geologist, who, by studying the history and structure of the earth can help develop a nation's natural resources.

The photography class of C. S. H. S. this year has proved itself a successful undertaking, as is shown by the hundreds of splendid pictures they took for the Terror Trail and other groups in the school.

Knowledge of Mathematics Is Vital in Defense

The mathematics department of C. S. H. S. encompasses the primary of all types of mathematics very thoroughly, starting with first year of ninth grade algebra, and junior algebra, and including plane and solid geometry, and trigonometry.

No research scientist or structural designer could accomplish anything of value, nor could any bridge, airplane, boat, or any other engineering project be constructed without the aid of the higher forms of math. The calculation of the trajectory of long-range projectiles and of high-altitude bombs would be mere guesswork, in most cases impossibly so without the aid of mathematics. Even the building of houses would be difficult without the aid of algebra.

There is also a course in business mathematics, which is a foundation for most of the clerical positions in an office. This is designed to provide for the mastery of the fundamental operations in arithmetic and their applications to the various problems in business transactions. This course is followed by one in bookkeeping, which enables the students to obtain successful positions in the business world.

SOCIAL SCIENCE
Votaw, L. D; Johnson, Lillian M.; Parsons, Ernestine; Felton, H. O.

Knowledge of the past is essential to future citizens

Through their history classes and textbooks the history teachers of Colorado Springs High School are attempting to teach their pupils to be good patriotic citizens. By pointing out the great social, political, and economical mistakes of the past, they are teaching us to be good citizens. By comparing the past errors to the present mistakes, the pupils can better understand and manage the immediate problems that arise in their civic, county, or national government.

In the sophomore classes European history is the subject which is delved into with an effort to determine the reasons for certain happenings in different European countries. It is this knowledge of events of the past which will help to make the world of tomorrow a better place in which to live.

The senior history classes spend the entire year in studying American history, so that they may become better acquainted with the great men and events of our country. The inspiration furnished by the study of America's heroes and their beneficent deeds is of incalculable value to the future American citizen.

One day a week in the senior history classes is devoted to Speech. Often panel discussions are held over the weekly current events paper, "The American Observer." At times these discussions become very heated and are entered into by one and all with spirited conviction. During the last semester a major speech of ten to twenty minutes must be given. The subject may be any that pertains to social science and contributes information to the class. This speech constitutes the final examination for the course in Speech. Through this course in current events, the history students of C. S. H. S. become well versed in world events. This part of the history class is invaluable to each student.

Commercial Course Trains for a Job

To the steady drone of a grating phonograph, the typewriters in rooms 216, 217 and 219 can be heard all day long banging out such a wearisome sentence as: "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

In the next room the shorthand classes make queer marks that look like Greek to most of us, but really do make sense to some people. Besides typing and shorthand, the Commercial department offers such courses as Window Trimming, Commercial Law, Office Practice, Retailing, and Advertising. These courses give numerous opportunities to high school students, to both those going to college and those who plan to enter the business world.

Those interested in a cooperative training job have access to these services through the cooperation of the various merchants of Colorado Springs. They receive no salary for these jobs, but they do gain valuable experience.

A highlight is the Window Trimming course using the show window located in the second floor hall. Here during the year you have seen many interesting and colorful window displays built by the students.

The courses offered by this department are the most demanded courses in the school. With such a varied list to choose from, there should certainly be many successful business men among us. The classes and training offered by the commercial department definitely meet the requirements needed by the business world. Every year C. S. H. S. turns out many a promising student to prove the value of its commercial department. The opportunities offered in these classes are extremely valuable to all who are enrolled in them.

Cafeteria and Library Provide Relaxation for Working Minds

Study hall — our favorite period — a period in which you can do plenty of nothing, or if necessary, plenty of delayed homework. If work must be done, it is much easier to do it in pleasant surroundings. C. S. H. S. students are doubly fortunate, for not many schools can boast of such a library as the one of C. S. H. S. Because of its cheerful interior, indirect lighting, and a wide variety of research books, current magazines, novels, and non-fiction books, it is one of the most completely equipped libraries in the state.

The cafeteria, where a measly nickel can buy a lot of good food, is the most popular room of the building. Though the students may be winded after they have climbed the three flights of stairs leading to the cafeteria, they are well repaid for their labor when they bite into a hot hamburger, or take their first bite of cherry pie a la mode.

The social room tells a tale of good times and fun. Who hasn't enjoyed sinking down into the soft cushions of those beautiful sofas? For this reason more committees are finding the social room a convenient place in which to meet. The superb decorations, the soft lights, and the comfortable chairs form a perfect setting for parties and teas.

Creative Hands Are Vital To Defense

With the attention of the United States focused on national defense, the Fine and Industrial Arts department has been placed in the spotlight. Students taking Auto, who learn what makes a car tick by taking jalopies apart and putting them back together again; the Metals students who learn how to do miraculous things with pieces of metal; those in the Woodworking classes learning what to do with wood; and the Mechanical Drawing classes, who are instructed in the fundamentals of blueprint reading, drawing and designing are all playing an important part in the war world and the world of tomorrow.

The Art and Music departments are the most popular ones. The Art classes made the Christmas murals and painted stage scenery and patriotic posters. To furnish entertainment for the school the Choirs, Band, and Orchestra gave the Operetta and also concerts, which are for the public.

National Defense in the making.

Physical health is entering into our personal life now with a bang. To be a patriotic citizen, one must be fit. It has always been the endeavor of the school's physical education department to give to every boy and girl a well-developed body.

The Wealth of a Nation Depends Upon the Health of Its People

The boys must take a test at the middle of the year which determines to a great extent, their gym grade. This test consists of rope-climbing, tumbling, bar-work, pull-ups, half-lever, and others. Of course the boys don't spend all their time preparing for this test, for they play basketball and similar games, do calisthenics, and work on the rings, weights, parallel-bars, and other gym equipment. In the special classes conducted by Eddie Allen and Coach Eddie Wagner, the boys learn wrestling and boxing.

The girls' gym classes are devoted for the greater part to exercises and dancing. They also have basketball, volleyball, baseball, tennis, badminton, and tumbling teams. Every three years a gym exhibition, which is made up of both modern dancing and tap dancing and demonstration of various exercises, is given. Mrs. Burbrink is in charge of the advanced gym classes, and Miss Bruce teaches the regular gym. In order to show their patriotism and do something for national defense, the girls are being instructed in Red Cross first aid. The completion of this course entitles a girl to a Red Cross card.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS
Pettigrew, Grissom, Davis, Nicoll.

Short skirts, roller skates, and lollypops—these characterized Senior Kid Day. That wasn't the only day the seniors felt childish. They certainly felt like kids, when in September 1939 they ushered in their first year in high school.

Having become acquainted with all the highways and byways of C. S. H. S., they spent an uneventful sophomore year. Then, they didn't know quite what the score was, but still they felt important. As time passed on, they found themselves promoted another notch. Now as juniors they could look down on and heckle the class of '43.

At last they found themselves as sophisticated seniors, well—seniors anyway. And say, was that Senior Play ever a success! Then, too, there was the crowning event of the year—the Junior-Senior Prom. Also by their diligent work in C. S. H. S., we know that many students of the Class of '42 will be highly successful in their chosen occupations. But soon all met on common ground, for each, with high school days gone by, took part in the last event—commencement.

JUNIOR COUNCIL

Although they have risen above the lowly ranks of "Buck Privates," the Juniors have not as yet become commissioned officers of the Terror ranks.

Already, however, they have received a Distinguished Service Medal for that side-splitting Junior Farce, "What A Life," starring Jack Farrington and Betty Borst. Special mention should be made of the fact that the cast produced the play without scenery, so that the class could purchase a defense bond with the saving.

The Juniors sponsored the Kid Day Dance, and proved to the whole school that they know how to really make a dance a big success. The officers of the Junior Class, including Johnny Snyder, president; Jimmy Good, vice-president; Phyllis Cooper, secretary; and Ted Manning, treasurer, all deserve victory medals for the swell Junior-Senior Prom, for who will dispute the fact that it was elegant, but definitely! The entire council under the enthusiastic and able supervision of Miss Gill and Mr. Iungerich have done themselves up proud in sponsoring this up and coming Junior Class.

But now, looking forward to next year when these Juniors have become commissioned officers, a sincere and go-getting Senior Class as ever ruled the halls of C. S. H. S. is seen. The way the class has undertaken all of the council's projects and successfully carried them out is ample proof. We know that all their lesser classmates will look up to this Class of '43.

BROADENED By CULTURE

As yet, it is too early to tell how many an obscure Garrick or Brahms has gone through our school this year. It may be that there were none at all. But surely the arts could not have been carried on with greater enthusiasm or vigor than they were by the young actors in our stage productions, the artists behind the scenes, the musicians in our choirs, in the band, and in the orchestra.

MASQUE AND SANDAL

M & S Thespians

Masque and Sandal, the honorary dramatics society of C. S. H. S., is well known all over the state for its advancement in the field of drama. It is open to any student who shows a talent for acting, or who spends one school year working back stage, provided the student has 16 high school credits. Twenty-five points (a point representing one hour's dramatic service) is required for membership maintenance. Dick Teague is president of this organization, with Virginia Gilles as vice-president, Marshall Sanders as treasurer, and Imogene Kennedy as secretary. It is sponsored by Miss Lillian Johnson and Mr. Winburne.

Enliven Productions

The excellent experience and skillful directing the actors receive in their high school plays is one of the greatest factors in obtaining success that is offered at C. S. H. S. They not only learn to act, but also to control the body and to have almost perfect diction and pronunciation. They know that the praises of their public should go to the institution that gave them their strong foundation and excellent start.

THE BAT was this year's thrilling Masque and Sandal play. From the first curtain to the exciting finish, it held the audience fascinated.

MASQUE AND SANDAL

Cornelia and Lizzie asking the ouija board about the mysterious happenings.

Who killed Richard Flemming? The sign of the Bat appears at the window.

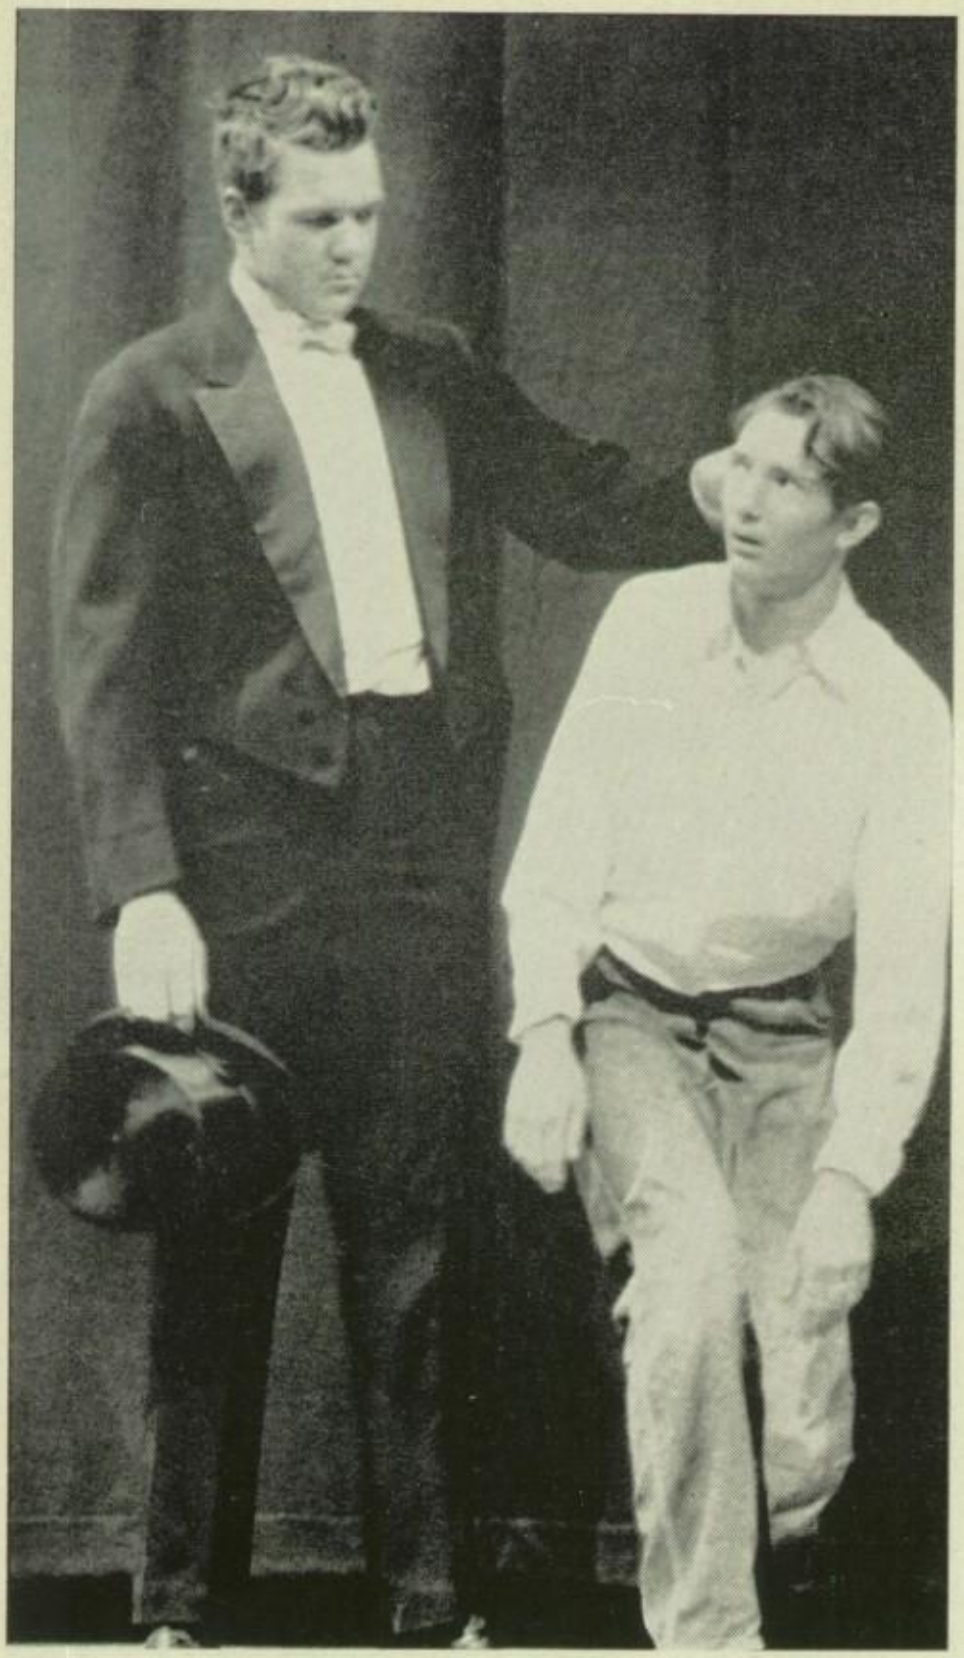
Dale faints at the sight of the Bat. Waiting for the arrival of the Bat.

Masque and Sandal Presents "The Bat"

"—a criminal known to the underworld as 'The Bat.' His last crime was a particularly atrocious one. The body of the murdered man—." "Oh, why don't you read the funny papers sometimes!!!"

This is a little of the dialogue between Lizzie (Virginia Gillies) and Cornelia Van Gorder (Bette LeCrone), two of the main characters of the play "The Bat" by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hapgood, which was given by the Masque and Sandal Dramatic Society. Those few lines illustrate the mystery and comedy of the play.

The play centers mostly around Cornelia Van Gorder, an elderly spinster, who had rented the house of the late president, Courtleigh Fleming, of the Union Bank from which all the money had been taken. Bailey (Dick Teague), the cashier of the bank, was missing, but he obtained a job as a gardener of Miss Van Gorder under the assumed name of Brook, because he believed that Courtleigh Fleming had taken the money and hidden it in a secret room in his house before his death. Dale Ogden (Ann Stewart), niece of Cornelia and with whom Brook is engaged, is spending the summer with her aunt, and she is trying to help Brook clear himself. After the murder of Richard Fleming (Darwin Seleen), nephew of Courtleigh Fleming, who had come to the house at the request of Dale, the mystery really begins. Who killed Richard Fleming? Dale, Billy (Kenneth Tevebaugh), Japanese butler, and Reginald Beresford (Bob McKnight), friend of Richard Fleming, are the main suspects. Doctor Wells (Bob Hendrix), the doctor of Miss Van Gorder, but who was also the doctor of Courtleigh Fleming before his death, and an unknown man (Paul Pumphrey) who had been dazed by a blow on the head, help to thicken the plot. The person behind all the mysterious happenings was believed to be "The Bat" because he had left his sign; but who was "the Bat" and what was he after? After the hidden room had been found and the body of Courtleigh Fleming, who had been murdered, had been found in a closet, the mystery is solved mostly by Cornelia Van Gorder, "The Bat" is revealed as Anderson (Ray Guseman), the man who had been called in to help solve the case and who had been impersonating the real detective, the unknown man.



De Lawd and the sinner.

On December fifth the C. S. H. S. Dramatics classes, the Girls' Physical education department and the Orchestra presented, with the assistance of the Choirs, THE GREEN PASTURES by Marc Connelly. This play is a presentation of the childlike conception of the Bible and biblical characters which is common to the Negro of the deep South. Theatrical tradition has for centuries forbidden the portrayal of the Deity on the grounds that such a play would be sacrilegious. Mr. Connelly's handling of dialogue and situation is so sensitive to religion that his play becomes the great religious drama of this century. The audience was not expected to receive a sermon from the play; there is delicate humor, pathos, excitement, and tragedy all within its brief two hours of playing time.

The play opens in a Sunday school down south with the preacher (Duane Miller) reading from the Book of Genesis and explaining to his pupils as best he can why God made the world, and that we must have faith to understand. In speaking of the creation of the universe we are taken into an imaginary heaven where there is an abundance of catfish and boiled custard. De Lawd (Don Roe) passes a miracle to get a little firmament for his custard, but it proves too much and he is forced to create an earth on which he can drain the firmament. Gabriel (Dick Teague) insists it is too pretty to leave untenanted, so God creates man.

From there on to the crucifixion we see the attempts of God and his holy men to make the earth a better place, but they are opposed on every hand by wicked people.

THE GREEN PASTURES was a very ambitious undertaking, having been made possible by the sincere acting and interpretation of those taking part in the play. C. S. H. S. was the first high school to produce this play since it was written, eleven years ago.

One must not bring his ideas of God as an abstract benevolent being into the theater with him; but rather he must come and wait for the old Negro of the deep South to tell his religion as he sees it.

This old fellow was acquainted with steamboats on the Mississippi river, so we must not be surprised to hear a river boat horn on Noah's Ark. His knowledge of ancient history is so very little that we must not be astonished that the court of the King of Babylon looks like a road house or a cabaret. This old man talks to his God in the cotton fields, in his little shanty, and on the river.

A Cappella Choir Has Had An Active Year

Brilliant, proficient, and prepared, the Colorado Springs High School A Cappella Choir has given much enjoyment to the city and the school. This year has been very busy for the choir.

There were assemblies for the school. At one of the assemblies the students who are not in any choir got an idea of what the choirs can do. One of the interesting features about the choirs is the large percentage of students who take music of some form here in the high school. Twenty per cent of the students of C. S. H. S. is enrolled in some sort of choir, either A Cappella or junior choir. The A Cappella choir made all of thirty-one public appearances before audiences totaling 40,000 people last year. The C. S. H. S. A Cappella choir sang over the "Blue Network" station, C. B. S., for the annual Christmas Convocation service. These were a few of the facts brought out in the course of the program, besides the demonstration to show the school how the choir "ticks." This demonstration started out with a single voice and worked up to eight-part harmony. The honorary choir than sang "When Day Is Done," which was very much like Fred Waring's style. This type of singing is very much enjoyed by both students and choir members.

At another assembly songs were sung by the choir for the entertainment of the students with the choir's presentation of "Ballad for America," still the favorite of the audience.

The choir also helped to produce "Green Pastures" by giving their interpretation of the negro spirituals. There were two performances given, one being a Red Cross Benefit.

The annual Christmas Convocation for the school was given this year in the auditorium with tableaux on the stage and the choirs singing in the background. The "Nativity" was given as usual at the city auditorium with junior high choirs assisting. This is enjoyed each year by many people in Colorado Springs.

Everyone in Colorado Springs should appreciate the representation of the musical talents of their city when the choir sings on a national network for the Easter services in the Garden of the Gods. Under the direction of Don Haley the choir has been making a very favorable impression on the music notables who have visited C. S. H. S. Jose Iturbi was much impressed by the choir's achievements.

Within the A Cappella there is a small honorary choir of about forty people. This honorary group practices after school, and when a small choir is needed, this choir is used. The officers of the small choir are Dick Teague, president, Betty Jo Green, secretary, and Dale Hayhurst, treasurer. Members of this choir made the trip to Alamosa this year, where for the past two years Mr. Haley has conducted a music clinic. He uses the choir to demonstrate his points.

The choirs have also given two concerts at school. At the second concert given by the choirs, religious, solo, and workshop ensembles, secular and patriotic compositions made up the three divisions of the program. The A Cappella choir presented the first of the religious and patriotic divisions after which the junior choirs combined with them. Solos and workshop ensemble, with the exception of numbers by the small choir, were worked up and practiced individually. The performance was far superior to the type of work expected of high school choirs.

Besides all this they produced the operetta "Pinafore," and they are also planning a trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico, soon after school is out.

Getting ready for the "Nativity"

The A Cappella Presents Operetta

"Love levels all ranks," or at least that is what Captain Corcoran (Dick Teague) tries to convince his beautiful daughter, Josephine (Imogene Kennedy and Lois Jean Wright). With these words the Captain of the "Pinafore" tries to allay the fears of Josephine, who is frightened at the prospect of marrying a man not of her rank. Josephine is in love with a sailor on board her father's ship, and when her father finishes uttering these words, she realizes that she will be doing no wrong by marry-ingn Ralph Rackstraw, or "Rafe" (Bob Aldridge). Rafe and Josephine plan their elopement, but their plan is foiled when Dick Deadeye (Kenneth Noe) discovers their intention to elope, and reveals the plot to the Captain. Little Buttercup (Shirley Brothers, Emilee Hiller, and Carol Brooks) succeeds in reuniting Josephine and Ralph by confessing a long concealed crime. As the curtain falls on the final act, three couples are united for a happy future life.

With a chorus of over one hundred members and with a double leading cast, "H. M. S. Pinafore," one of Gilbert and Sullivan's most popular operettas, was given for three splendid performances at C. S. H. S. The British seamen in their snappy blue and white sailor suits and the pretty village maidens in their colorful skirts and blouses as they sing the lilting scores from "Pinafore" will always be remembered as one of the most colorful scenes of the operetta.

Don Haley, vocal director; Newton Winburne, staging and dialogue; Mrs. Teresa Burbrink, dancing; Fred G. Fink, orchestra; Miss Jane Tharp, costumes; Mrs. Leila Galbraith, designing; and the members of the A Cappella Choir and Orchestra ought to be commended for the many hours of labor and practice that went into making "Pinafore" such a grand production.

Many students of the choir began practicing and learning the scores of "Pinafore" long last summer in preparation for the stiff tryouts that were held last October. The final tryouts were so closely matched that Mr. Haley, unable to choose the leads for just one cast, finally decided to produce the operetta with a double cast in the leads. The leads who survived the stiff competition began rehearsing "Pinafore" when they returned to school after Christmas vacation. The cast rehearsed week after week of intense voice study. Then came the last two tedious weeks in which all of the choir practiced with the cast. Also spending many hours after school to accompany the singing cast was Mr. Fink's small orchestra. Mr. Winburne's fifth period dramatic class in cooperation with Mrs. Galbraith's art classes designed and painted the scenery.

Rows of neatly creased trousers marching smartly down the street in a rhythmic 1-2-3-4, perfectly executed maneuvers, instruments shining in the sun, and twirlers' batons flashing high above hatted heads give you a fairly accurate picture of the Colorado Springs High School Band. Under the splendid direction of Mr. Fred G. Fink, the C. S. H. S. band has carried off all the top honors in contests all over the state. Gold cup after gold cup is proudly borne home to C. S. H. S. as a symbol of their victory.

The band is not only adept in playing martial music but it is also skillful in playing the heaviest symphony or the hottest swing tune. Be the music classical, semi-classical, or popular the C. S. H. S. band is equally talented in playing them all.

"On to Carlsbad." The spotlighting event of the band this year has been its united and massed movement in an effort to raise money for the long-awaited trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico, for the national music festival. Several successful concert ticket selling campaigns were staged downtown and throughout the residential districts with the resultant boost toward Carlsbad. Band members formed a "bank" where they deposited weekly amounts, so that the banner posted in the band room might become a materialized dream instead of a brown paper poster.

Of course, no really excellent band is ever complete without the bright, cherry smiles of the baton twirlers. Adding plenty of pep and pulchritude to the C. S. H. S. band are the baton twirlers, Muriel Schlessinger, Katherine Riley, Lois Jean Wright, Gwendolyn Cooper, Helen Alice Brough, and Marian Novak. Another unique feature of the band are the flag swingers. This novel idea was first introduced two years ago by Mrs. Burbrink. The red, white, and blue satin costumes of the flag twirlers, as they swing down the street twirling their red, white and blue flags, lend the band a colorful and patriotic air. Members of this energetic group are Barbara Bassett, Bettie Lue Cheever, Ruth Wilson, Pat Thady, Phyllis Huneke, Maxine Williams, Patty Bonser, Shirley Schlessinger, Roberta Printz, Eloise McCord, Phyllis Cooper, Rose Ann Hagge, and Hazel Brokaw.

Whenever a trainload of newly selected draftees leaves the railroad station for their respective cantonments, the Colorado Springs High School Band is always there to give the boys a royal send off. There is nothing that can quite equal a good, snappy band and a large sympathetic crowd to see the future soldiers off. This patriotic service that the band has been rendering to the community during the last year is one of the many civic services that the band offers the citizens of Colorado Springs.

As a part of the C. S. H.S. Band's yearly program it holds a series of four band concerts. Mr. Haley, and his A Cappella Choir, and the orchestra collaborate with the band in the presentation of these series. At these various concerts the band has introduced many difficult musical novelties. The band's arrangements of "Tropical," "Star Dust," "Piziccatta Polka," "Invitation to a Waltz," "March Heroic," have aroused much favorable comment among musical concerts.

Orchestra Interprets Classics

The future Fritz Kreislers and Leopold Stokowskis (and there might even be a few Glen Millers, and maybe a few Kay Kysers) begin their practice at eight o'clock A. M. every Monday and Wednesday, and until nine-thirty an occasional sour note or two issues from the band-orchestra room—of course, it is just occasional. In case it isn't clear as to what this is all about—it is the orchestra practicing.

At home with Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, and Wagner, their great compositions receive distinct greatness through the touch of the high school orchestra on formal occasions.

Competently directed by Mr. Fred G. Fink, the orchestra is always ready and willing to play at assemblies, plays, and concerts. The orchestra completed any school performances, whether it was one of the school plays, the Nativity, Brown and White Day, or Commencement.

Mr. Fink, Director

The orchestra has given two concerts this year. One was given with the band assisting, and the other was a combined band, orchestra, and choir concert. These concerts gave the public a fair sample of the great skill they have developed in interpreting well-known compositions. The public then became acquainted with the fine quality, the amazing skill, and the unusual tone of the performers and performances of the Colorado Springs High School orchestra.

The Colorado Springs High School orchestra has always received very high ratings in the state contests, and various orchestra members have won honors and medals in the solo and ensemble events.

FLUTES—J. Funk, Shock, Stewart, Zook. DRUMS—Chapman, Franklin, Gardener, Stewart, Wright, Betterly. PIANO—T. Jordon.

Three members of the high school orchestra were greatly honored by being taken into the Colorado Springs Symphony Orchestra. They were taken in as apprentices in order that they could get the experience of playing with a large, professional orchestra. Mr. Boothroyd, the conductor of the Colorado Springs Symphony Orchestra, states that he would rather train pupils of orchestral instruments, so that in years to come Colorado Springs will have the benefit of talented players of orchestral instruments. The three members accepted were Phyllis Brothers, Barbara Wynn, and Jim Funk. Both Phyllis and Barbara play the cello, and Jim plays the flute.

A small selected orchestra was used on several occasions when there was not room for the complete orchestra. The small orchestra was used to play between the cast of most of the plays, including the Junior Farce, "What A Life." The instrumental music for the operetta "Pinafore" was furnished by this same group.

Mr. Fred G. Fink, the director of the Colorado Springs High School Band and Orchestra, worked for music in the public schools, and it is largely due to him that music has been accepted as a part of the curriculum of the Colorado Springs schools. Approximately one-third of all Colorado Springs High School students are enrolled in music classes, orchestra, band, or choirs. In 1920 when the first Colorado Springs High School Orchestra was established, there were only eighteen members. Now, there are over seventy-five members of this very talented organization.

Mr. Fink was greatly honored last year when A. D. Davenport, a prominent composer of marches, dedicated his latest march, "The Emblem of Peace," to him.

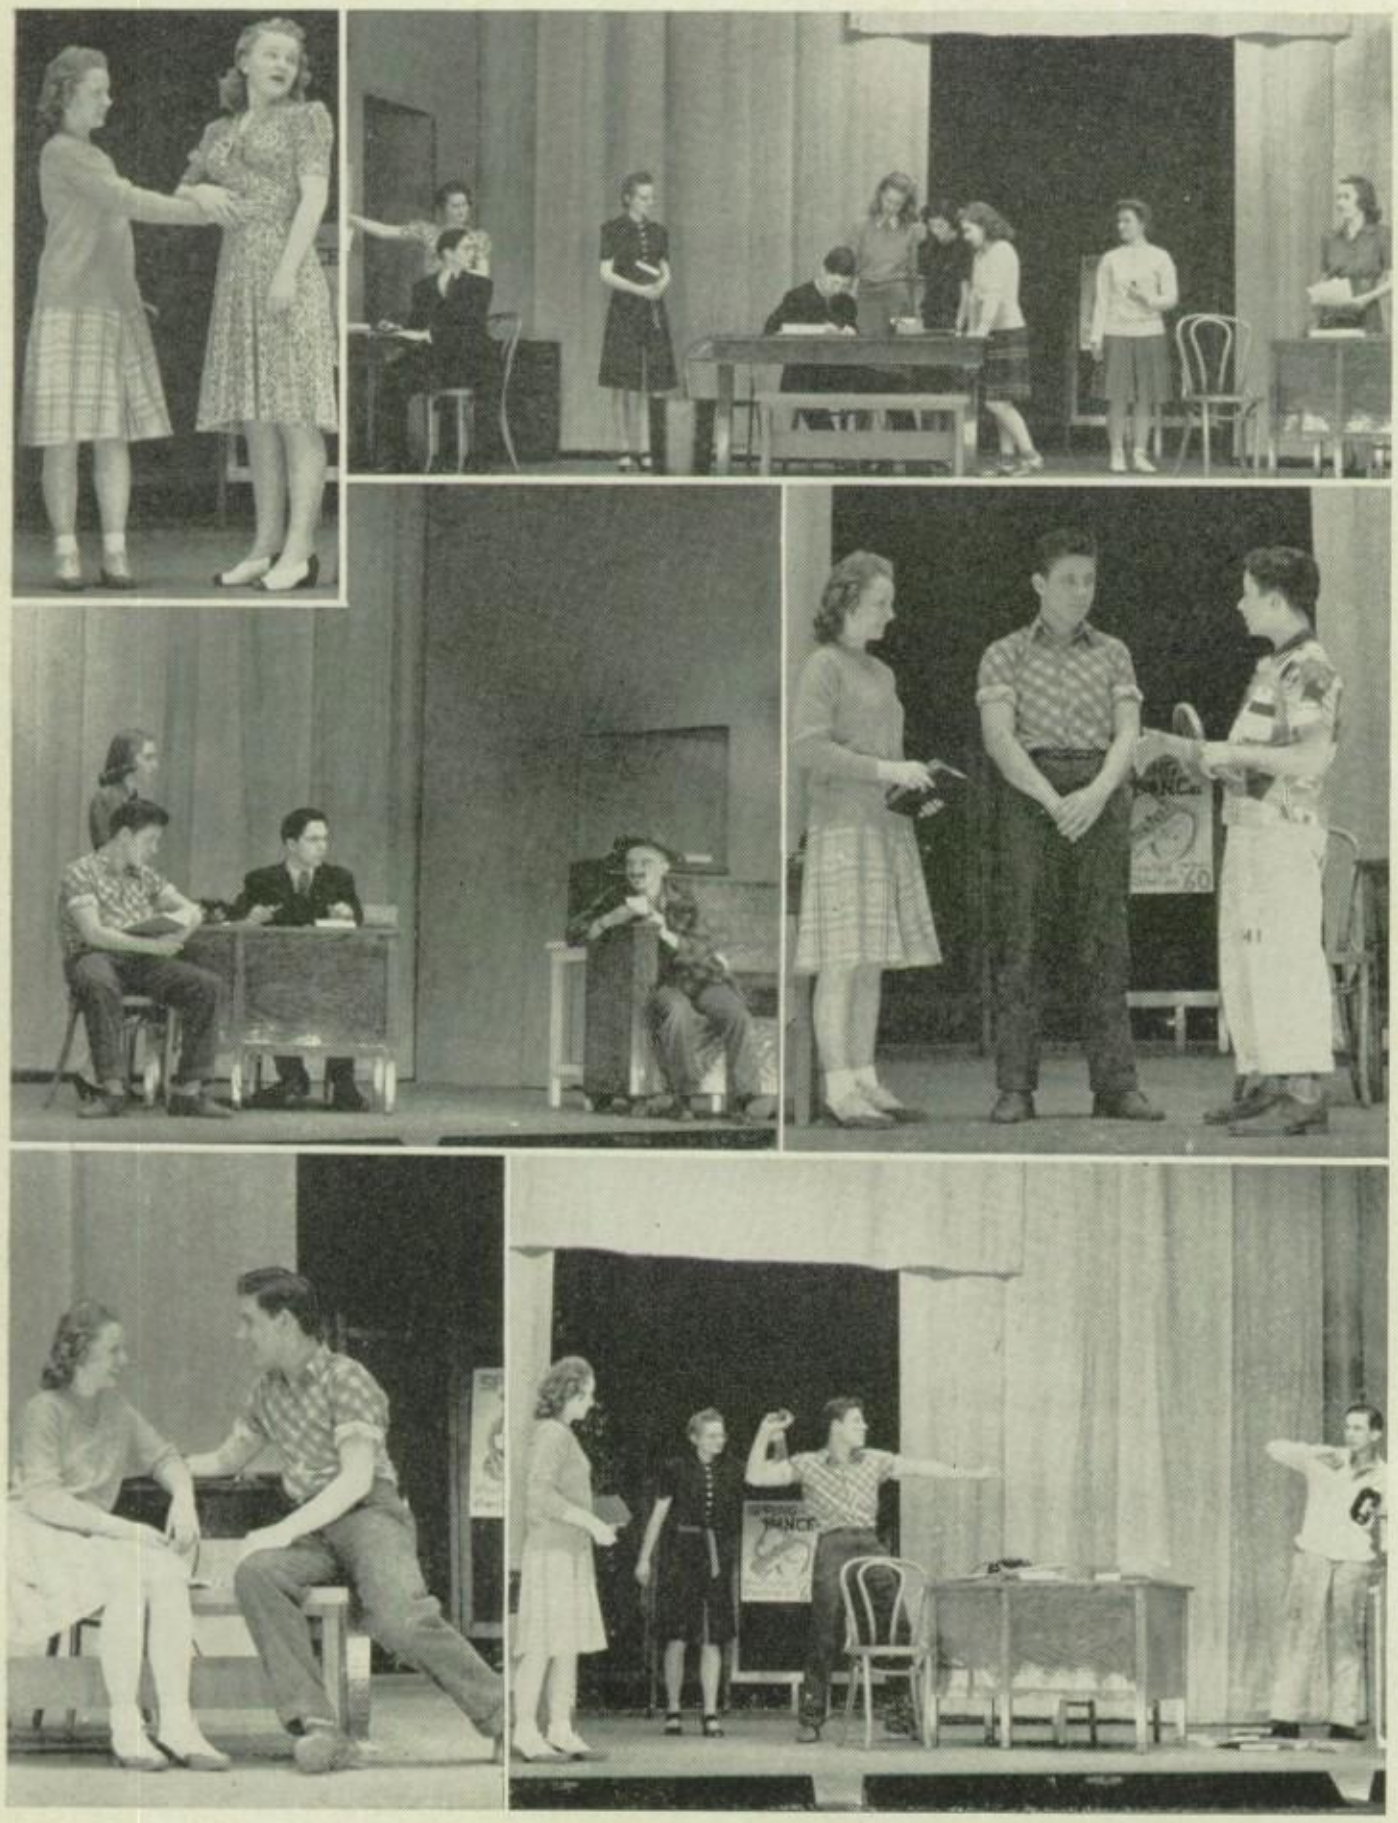
"I have the tickets, carfare is 30c, and there won't be any incidentals. Can you lend me 30c Barbara?" Henry's last line shows the humor of the Junior Farce, WHAT A LIFE, which was given in the high school auditorium on February 20.

WHAT A LIFE might have taken place in our own principal's office. In any school there are many Henry Aldrichs, for Henry (Jack Farrington) is a typical high school boy. Henry wanted to take Barbara Pearson (Betty Borst) to the Spring Dance, but to do this his mother (Pat Charlson) demanded that he pass his history examination with the highest mark in his class. As a last resort he cheated from George Bigelow's (Wesley Burnett) paper; as a result he was expelled from school by Mr. Bradley, the principal (Milt Norton), for sixty days. To add insult to injury Henry was accused of stealing part of the school band instruments when a pawn ticket for them was found by Mr. Ferguson (Bill Franklin). Later it was proved by Mr. Ferguson and the music teacher, Miss Wheeler (Analee Johnson) that George Bigelow had stolen the instruments. As a result Henry was allowed to go to the Spring Dance with Barbara. The busy atmosphere of a school office was emphasized by the numerous appearances of different students and teachers who wander in and out of a principal's office in a day.



WHAT A LIFE was the play that introduced Henry Aldrich to the public and was well-portrayed by those taking part.

PRACTICED In

In the hand that wields the gavel or casts a ballot for a school election lies the safeguard of a wise government, because this and millions more like it, is the hand of an educated future citizen. The value of early experience is not in knowing how to vote or how to conduct a meeting, but how to do it wisely and with results. We know that we ourselves hold the guarantee for freedom through early experience and complete education in government system.

I will never forget the good times we had in Biol. last year. You are one of the sweetest girls I have ever met. Loads + loads of luck, success + happiness

Cabinet Initiates Election Devices Provided For In the New Constitution

Dawson, Miss Hampshire, sponsor; Goodner, Wright, Dunn, Bassett, Mr. Davis, sponsor; Le Crone, Roe. CABINET

Having struggled valiantly with the new constitution for C. S. H. S. during the first semester, the S. O. Cabinet at last put the finishing touches on it and the constitution was presented to the school. The adoption of it by the school, and the running of the new election, is the high-light of this year's work.

As president of the student body, Tom Dawson presided over all the assemblies and the Assembly Committee, and has indeed done an outstanding job of all his duties. Lois Jean Wright, first vice-president, led the Social Committee through many triumphs this year, such as the Barn Dance, the Holly Hop, and the Social Hours. Bill Goodner, head of the Patrols and Clean-Up, has had a tough job this year, but the clean halls we have seen are the answers to the query as to his success. The different parts of the Courtesy Committee were handled very competently by Barbara Bassett, our third vice-president. Records, both historical and financial, have been very ably kept by Bette LeCrone, secretary, and Tom Dunn, treasurer. This year has been notable also because of the rise of school morale, and a great deal of the credit is due to Don Roe, head booster.

Bill Goodner headed the patrols which were under the sponsorship of Mr. McPherson. The noon patrols and period patrols play a big part in keeping our school systematic and orderly. Headed by Bette and Barbara and sponsored by Miss Johnson, the newly formed election committee tried its level best to make everything go smoothly at the voting places in the cafeteria and the library.

Cabinet convened daily at 12:00—high noon—in the S. O. Room to discuss all problems presented by other school organizations. Hashing things out until at last a great decision was at hand, was left to cabinet members who developed a greater reasoning power trying to help C. S. H. S. become a better school. Planning, supervising, and administrating, our governing body found much to do around the school such as contriving Pow Wow Day with Big Chief Wahnkonaga as the reigning element, lots of peppy assemblies, motor trips with overnight kits to student council conferences, Christmas Decorations which helped to brighten our holiday and various and sundry other important matters.

None of this work could possibly have been accomplished, however, without the guidance and help of the S. O. Cabinet sponsors, Mr. W. E. Davis and Miss Rowena Hampshire. Always willing to lend a hand or give sage advice, their presence in the cabinet meetings during fourth period has been indispensable.

Busy S. O. Committees Spend Profitable Year

Standing—Barton, Read, Love, Magnuson, Riley, Tevebaugh, Shepherd, R. Graebner, Watson, Armstrong, Kurie, Mohler, Schlessinger, Goss.

Committees in C. S. H. S. are important for several reasons. First, much of the school business is handled through them, and secondly, many students become members of one of these committees. The Social Committee is directed by Mrs. Wynn, Publicity Committee by Mr. Monroe and Mr. Willie. The newly-organized Election Committee is supervised by Miss Johnson. The three parts of the Courtesy Committee are under Mrs. Skidmore; the Misses Lee, Freeman, and Dessaint aided the Booster Committee, Miss Hampshire again sponsored the Assembly Committee. Shown also below is the Commercial Service group which helps all teachers who need typing and such work done. Duties of each committee are obvious from their title.

Girls Learn Facts Concerning Home Nursing

This year for the first time a home-nursing group was formed. So many girls desired to take advantage of such an opportunity, that four groups were organized. One met every fifth period while the other three met once a week on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings.

The purpose behind this course was to teach homemakers the fundamental things necessary to help them when they have illness in their own homes. This includes hygiene, care of the sick, child health, and certain special problems.

Mrs. Wynn and Mrs. Hill helped to organize the groups and are now keeping them running, with the valuable assistance of Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Giese, Mrs. Ritchie, and Miss Work.

Charm Group

With Miss Dorothy Elston and Mrs. Wynn as sponsors, Dorothy Poe as president, and Lois Meikle as secretary, the El Encanto Club spent a very profitable year. The purpose of this club was to tutor girls in the social graces, which include being the perfect hostess, acquiring poise. Personality development and correct grooming also played a very important part. Townspeople of different professions were invited in to speak to the girls on varied phases of related subjects.

Two Groups of Loyal Terrors Perform Good Deeds

Ably executing some very unpleasant tasks, members of the Patrols and Clean-Up Squad have done a remarkably nice job.

This year the students have been privileged to go outside at noon and enjoy the fresh air and sunshine, but this increased the jobs of the patrollers. For some senseless reason, students always wanted to go down the wrong stairs on their way out or to come back in the building after they were out. Since classes were being held in some parts of the building while people were at lunch, it was most important that the halls be kept absolutely quiet, and it was most decidedly done by these firm but courteous people.

Sophomore boys on the Clean-Up Squad have indeed set a shining example for the whole school to follow. Desiring to earn Terror Tribe points, these boys, armed with broom and dust-pan, have taken to keeping our halls spotless—a task which is far from being a joke. Bill Goodner, third vice-president, is chief of this band of picker-uppers and is certainly to be commended on his work as head of both the patrols and clean-up squad.

Congratulations to all you enthusiastic Terrors who have shown the rest of us how to really be a true Terror with the true Terror spirit.

V. V. V. Club Reaches New Heights

We are proud to salute a club which has really carved itself an attractive niche in the C. S. H. S. Hall of Fame this year.

Since the Social Committee financed the activities of the organization last year, the club decided to remedy this situation this time, and the members made plans to help finance their own affairs.

Starting the schedule of the school year, this club presented a really novel entertainment, the V. V. V. "Vodville," for the enjoyment of its audience and also to make money. Given in the school auditorium and displaying a remarkable array of talent, the program was a great success. Tumblers, piano solos, song selections, a trio of the cutest little girls you ever saw, and a jitterbug contest composed this presentation.

Miss Parsons was again the sponsor of this lively group and helped them a great deal to gain their popularity.

The purpose of this club was, as one of the members aptly put it, "Just to have fun."

Dancing Club Receives Enjoyable Instruction

One of the most active groups in the school is the Dancing Club, which meets every Tuesday. Its purpose is to afford a chance to those who enjoy this type of entertainment, and to give everyone a chance to learn to dance, so that he can take advantage of the school dances, especially the Junior-Senior Prom.

Miss Jolly, a new teacher this year, is the sponsor of the energetic group, and Miss Atkinson, instructress, is really a favorite. The officers, Shirley Morrison, Patte Robinson, Dave Miller, and Bob Peckham lead this group of about sixty members.

Members have learned very quickly and all steps were mastered with great ease. Grace and good times were the keynotes of the whole year.

Sometimes with a piano accompaniment, and other times with the grand music of the Dancing Club Band, under the direction of Crofton Littlejohn, the Dancing Club swings solid.

Shown below is the much talked of Littlejohn band.

Students Profit by Co-operative Training Program

The secretarial course, a very popular one, prepares young people for a career in the business world. Shorthand, bookkeeping, and typing are among the foundational subjects. Mr. Hay, a new, and I might add, a very well-liked member of the C. S. H. S. faculty, is the sponsor of this part of the commercial section of the school.

Mr. Horner's cooperative training plan for his classes is famous over all the nation. This plan gives the pupils a chance to really get business experience downtown in an office where they have up-to-date problems to meet and conquer. Do the business men like the idea? Just ask them, and they willingly testify to the fact.

Terror Trail Staff Completes First War Annual

Counting characters, struggling with snaps, and puttering with pasteup the 1942 Terror Trail staff spent a busy year on what may be the last annual for some time at C. S. H. S. Few members of the staff will forget those first terrifying weeks of bewilderment. Lay-outs, copy, dummy, and paste-ups were just words until they were very realistically brought before the staff. Thus, throbbing heads, puckers of worry, and sighs permeated "316."

It was anything but boring or tiresome, and many a story can be told of the grand times which were so appreciated. The Christmas party held by Mr. Davis in the social room was something to rave about. Another highlight of the year was the thrilling all-day excursion to Denver to view a collection of some of last year's first-class annuals. That day will remain put away with other memories in the recesses of the brains of staff members.

Hay Hurster held sway over the assembly early in March, and fired one question after another at stooges and members of the Photography class. This got the sales campaign under way, and between snatches of songs and snappy questions, subscriptions piled up.

Now the 1941-1942 Terror Trail staff wants to sincerely thank Mr. Monroe and Mrs. Galbraith for their aid on the art work, Mr. Steele and the Photography class without whom the annual would have been impossible, the stooges, and most of all, the staff's sponsor, Mr. Davis, for his invaluable help and never-ending patience.

William W. Graham, this year's LEVER sponsor, left CSHS at the end of the semester following his enlistment at the Denver navy recruiting office. He would have been drafted into the army by the end of February or the beginning of March, and thus decided to get into the navy at this time. Mrs. Grace Berkley Brannon has taken over the LEVER class.

Lack of Joke Columns Praised by Crosman

College Journalist Believes Papers Have too Many Non-Intellectual Fillers

Those members of the Lever Staff who attended the Press Conference in Boulder last week came back to school Monday with many new ideas all ready to put them in effect.

There were approximately thirty-three papers sent in and judged by Ralph L. Crosman, Director of College Journalism. These papers were judged for columns of gossip, jokes, and other non-intellectual filler. The LEVER was commended for its lack of these columns.

The delegates enjoyed themselves to the greatest extent due to the splendid hospitality of those heads of the sororities and fraternities.

An Open Letter

In fifty-four years of service to the school, the LEVER has tried always to represent the WHOLE school and not any particular group.

"The LEVER shall be the instrument through which CSHS shall become articulate; the just and unprejudiced interpreter of all school organizations; an ardent equalizer of all clique tendencies and monopolies; a true and lasting example of Terror spirit; the axis of the school."

Certain parts of the above statement should be given especial emphasis. For example: ". . . . through which CSHS (not just part of it, but all) shall become articulate," and "just and unprejudiced interpreter of all school organizations." Particular notice should be given the principle that the LEVER is "an ardent equalizer of all clique tendencies and monopolies."

As well as being a newspaper for every member of the school, the LEVER considers it a pleasant duty to present features of general interest to everyone in its inside pages as well as editorials commenting upon problems of interest to high school students.

For anyone who has an interest in the files, or for anyone's information, the LEVER is also considered an historical record. It has been so used by several research writers of the city.

All who stop and think must realize that a newspaper, especially a high school publication, is for some 1200 students, faculty members, parents, and posterity.

Quill and Scroll Awards Lever

Congratulations were sent to Mrs. Brannon and last year's Lever staff by the Quill and Scroll, complimenting them upon the fine paper they published last year. The staff received high ratings on "copyrighting, coverage, layout, and all-around writing technique." For this reason, the paper won the "International First Place Award."

"The Lever has maintained a reputation for outstanding high school journalism for some years."

The judges were especially complimentary upon the sport pages, remarking that this page had more color and interest than most papers.

Some of you may remember the "Vacation Edition" and the "Shop the Springs First" put out last year.

SQUARE DANCING CLUB

Fast Steppers Revive the Old-Fashioned Dances

"Swing that girl like swinging on a gate," can be heard any Wednesday afternoon about three o'clock when the Square-Dancing Club of Colorado Springs High School trips the light fantastic. Accompanied by a W. P. A. orchestra and caller, bright plaid shirts and full calico skirts keep time to an old-fashioned hoe-down or schottishe. Helping, in an entertaining way, to renovate the popular dances of the Old West is this group of nimble-footed dancers. Sponsored by Miss Dorothy Elston, these experienced dancers devote one and a half to two hours a week to this strenuous exercise. Although most of the members of the club have danced before, some time is spent for learning new and intricate steps. Many good times had by the club have been enthusiastically reported by the officers, Smith Payne, Ernestine Lacy, and Jimmy Waldroff. The high spirits of these kids are just what our country needs today.

Girls' Service Club Has Good-Will As Keynote

Early last fall the Girl Reserves held their installation of officers. Those installed were: Lois Patton, president; Delilah Inzer, vice-president; Ethel Adams, secretary; Blanche Goodwin, treasurer; Cora Betty Doll, program chairman; June Keeton, social chairman; and Lois Jarvis, worship chairman.

This fine group, of approximately twenty members, meets every other Thursday at the Y. W. C. A. under the sponsorship of Miss Stringfellow and Miss Harris.

One of these girls could easily have been recognized by her polite consideration and helpfulness to others, and by the cheerful smile that accompanied her wherever she went.

These girls lived up to their purposes which are to just have a good time and to help their community. To help the community the girls joined in the Community Chest Drive, and during Christmas vacation their annual Doll Tea was held at which dolls were dressed to be given to the Mrs. Santa Claus Club, so that poor children might have a better Christmas.

Evidence of a good deed performed at Christmas for Mrs. Santa

To fulfill their other purposes the pot luck suppers, dances, and lectures were given very frequently. Pot luck suppers were held once a month and were greatly enjoyed by all concerned.

An all Girl Reserve dance was held in April in which all Girl Reserves including those from the junior high were invited.

True Terror spirit is, and always has been, dispiayed by these girls who follow traditional high ideals and strive for close companionship in each project they undertake. The success of these projects has been very well shown by the reports of every one.

Hi-Y Reorganized Under New Sponsor Klinker and Barbee Head Group

One of the best well-known and most proficient organizations among the great many clubs at good old Colorado Springs High School is the Hi-Y Club.

The motto of the club was "To create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character throughout the school and the community." Thus it is easily seen that although the boys met to have a good time and to be with congenial companions, there was a much deeper purpose behind the organization. This club was a character-building and body-building enterprise and was dedicated to the creation of clean minds and clean bodies.

Regular meetings were held every Wednesday evening around 7:45 at the Y. M. C. A. building, and many an enjoyable dance or picnic was evolved from these get-togethers.

The club began as usual in September with its regular meetings, but in the middle of the year, the club was completely reorganized.

Mr. Dunkle, a new sponsor this year, helped these boys by supervising them and directing their excess energy into excellent and profitable channels.

Participating in various school and community projects, helping with the Community Chest campaign, and sundry other helpful tasks performed by the Hi-Y boys constituted a great part of the club's activities during this last year.

Prominent men of the city, among them being Reverend Ellzey from the Wesley Methodist Church, were asked in to speak to the members on various interesting subjects related to the common interest of the boys.

Meals of some sort, perhaps a buffet supper or a covered dish supper, were served at every meeting for a nominal fee.

Officers Everett Klinker and Harry Barbee reported a thoroughly enjoyable year with a good many profitable lessons learned.

Aspiring Journalists Are Members of Society

The International Honorary Society for high school journalists, Quill and Scroll, is what every junior, senior, or post-graduate hopes to enter. Any student in the upper third of his class who has written and had published one thousand words, and has an excellent character recommendation is eligible to try for membership. The purpose of this club is to encourage and reward individual achievements in journalism. Those who have done superior work in writing, editing, or business management are included in this field.

Eugene Nulph, Martha Jane Love, and Elizabeth Shafer, president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer, respectively, were those members of the organization who were elected in their junior year; Martha Jane from the Terror Trail staff, and Elizabeth and Eugene from the Lever staff.

Selection of members of Quill and Scroll is in the hands of the faculty supervisors, who must recommend them. This year Mrs. Grace Brannon had charge of the weekly paper, the Lever, and Mr. W. E. Davis was in charge of the Terror Trail staff. With their recommendation the work must be sent in to be checked by the National Secretary. If the evidences of work are acceptable, the candidate is notified of his election.

To officially distinguish these people, Quill and Scroll has a small gold pin. Just above the letter I. H. S. H. S. J., standing for "International Honor Society for High School Journalists," is a scroll with a quill lying across it. A magazine published by the Quill and Scroll designed to aid in writing and editing journalistic works is also sent to the members.

Those chosen from the Lever staff were: Barbara Porter, Margaret Featherston,Don Roe, Bobby Stroud, Aletha Woods, and Anne Wangberg. Those chosen from the annual staff were: Ted Cobb, Phyllis Brothers, Shirley Schlessinger, Roberta Printz, Doris Abbey, Bob Knight, and Bob McKnight.

DEBATE CLUB

Debaters Profit by Practice In Public Speaking

Debating and public speaking can be both beneficial and interesting to anyone. At any critical time the ability to stand and speak before an audience and speak well may mean the difference between oblivion and fame. Realizing this fact, the Debate Club was a very popular one here at C. S. H. S.

The debaters paired off at the beginning of the year and usually kept the combination during the rest of the year. Tournaments were held between them and then in larger groups during the terms. One of the highlights during the term was the Junior-Sophomore tournament. There were, however, many inter-scholastic debates, and there was, of course, the two-day trip to Denver University.

The heavy task of directing these things and encouraging members of this organization has fallen on the shoulders of George Tavenner, president, and Ted Manning, secretary-treasurer. Mr. Handke as sponsor has done a commendable job, and the members greatly regretted losing him to Uncle Sam.

Over 325 Members In Terror

Impressive Terror Tribe Initiation was held in the Social Room.

"Sow your wild wheat and reap the harvest." is an old adage which is especially appropriate for Terror Tribe. Since the Terror Tribe was organized in 1922, its purposes have been to support all school activities, to help the school council carry out its plans, and to boost the "Terror spirit."

By helping work-ladened teachers, patrolling the building, or doing other odd jobs, points may be earned. For fifty points an individual is entitled to the membership and emblem of the "Tribe of the Broken Circle."

and for only one hundred and fifty additional credits the gold "C" may be worn. For each additional two hundred points gained in this way, a jewel is placed on the gold "C" guard.

Through Terror Tribe the very scholarly student may be ushered into National Honor Society, or the popular student is granted the right to run for a school office, and many are the students who have failed to gain important positions of one kind or another by the lack of membership in this service organization.

The Boosters' Committee, made up of the officers and sponsors of Terror Tribe, forms the governing body for the club. This committee boosts school undertakings as well as scheduling the recreations and initiations of the organization. Led by Don Roe, president, and Misses Lee, Dessaint, and Freeman, sponsors, the group is Martha Goss, vice-president; Eleanor Gadd, secretary; Clair Renberg, treasurer; David Crabb and Henry Vaag, point recorders. In order that meetings might go along more smoothly, John Watson was appointed sergeant-at-arms.

The really true Terrors are ever striving to transcend the ladder of honor, in order that through Terror Tribe they might "reap the harvest."

Surely those students who realize how much Terror Tribe can mean both during their school life and during later life cannot fail to undertake to enter this honor organization as soon as possible. This is the least anyone who has true Terror pride and spirit can do, since it not only helps and will help them, but it also helps their school. When anyone does fail to earn Terror Tribe points, it surely must be because he is not in possession of all the facts concerning this organization, not lack of patriotism.

Later in the year, the latter part of May, all members assembled together for the traditional Terror Tribe banquet. At this time the officers for the coming year were initiated by the ex-president, Don Roe, and speeches were made by important guests. The officers were elected by the members of Terror Tribe after open nominations.

So here's extending congratulations to this splendid group on the work they have done this year in the direction to which they've started. Not one really loyal Terror will ever forget what Terror Tribe meant to him in their high school years.

Something a true Terror never forgets is being a member of National Honor Society. This national organization was founded in 1922 by Joseph C. Martin under the name of American Torch Society. The name was later changed to National Honor Society. The Colorado Springs High School Chapter is No. 1,000, and was organized in 1930. There are approximately two thousand, three hundred organizations spread over the country. The purpose of the organization is to promote high scholarship, effective leadership, conspicuous service, and good character

OFFICERS

To gain admission into this honored group, scholarship, of course, counts a good deal. The service points gained in Terror Tribe and the number of activities in which the student is engaged count very heavily also. Thus National Honor Society wants only those with scholarly minds, dependable, active, and willing to serve. In other words, this group wants only those that are all-around students.

In the spring of the year about five per cent of the junior class is elected to membership in this organization by a special faculty committee, consisting of those elected by the faculty. In the senior year, ten per cent more are elected by the same process. This plan allows something around sixty members of a certain class to become honored in this way.

Wearing the National Honor Society insignia is indeed a privilege; and, of course, only members of the group are allowed to take advantage of this opportunity. The badge is very familiar around the school campus and the pin with the gleaming brand and gold keystone is easily recognized.

The faculty election committee consisted of Mr. W. S. Roe, Mr. E. L. Anderson, Miss E. Dessaint, Mrs. L. Pratt, Mr. W. H. Steele, and Mr. J. F. Bischof.

Showing wise forethought, society members elected a grand corps of officers who served faithfully and well during the whole school year. These officers were: president, George Tavenner; vice-president, Phyllis Brothers; and secretary-treasurer, Bob Knight.

Yes, this National Honor Society demands a great deal of a person, but it is most certainly worth it. There is no greater distinction than to be recognized for scholarship, leadership, character, and service. This distinction can be carried all through life, and it's something to assuredly be very proud of.

So here's to these boys and girls who will be our future citizens. Some day we all may be able to say, "We knew them." For try to tell any member of C. S. H. S. that there won't be presidents, lawyers, doctors, actresses and actors, in fact, those from every walk of life you can name who won't go down in history.

Intricate and Simple Figures Are Mastered by Enthusiasts

Always willing to try anything once, would-be ice-skaters tried it out and found it was really keen. Finding others with the same regard for such a sport, the Icicles Club was formed.

Mr. Iungerich as sponsor, Joyce Carlson as president, Dorothy Rose as vice-president, Emeline Bogren as secretary, and Doris Steffy as treasurer have most assuredly kept the club in the direction it was headed for.

Bound together by their desire to have a good time, and having identical ideas as to how that should be done, these kids stuck together and kept their original plans. Meetings were held on Thursday, during which all business pertaining to the smooth running of club activities was brought up and ironed out, and on Friday they went skating at the Ice Palace. Those intricate figure eights and other lovely figures are taught by Mrs. Anderson. Falteringly at first, then a little more certain, and little by little with the help of patient guidance, really earnest Icicles learned to figure skate, and what is even more remarkable, they learned to figure skate gracefully, which to many of us sounds like a life's task all laid out.

Ten cent dues are imposed upon the members to buy the tickets. Then members can go skating for 18 cents. This rate is given to the organization as a special favor from the Broadmoor Ice Palace. Transportation to and from the Ice Palace is furnished by members and parents or friends. This, of course, is necessary since the Ice Palace is such a distance from the high school as to make it an impossibility for many students to ride on the bus. This way many more can go.

Who knows? Perhaps some day this training in sports and building up of human bodies will mean the difference between democracy and dictatorship, for no really strong nation can be pushed down for long because it always bounces right back. If only the people at large would realize this fact as well as the majority of the youth of America today!

It has been said that you never appreciate anything to its full extent until you try it out yourself. I'm sure that this holds true in connection with ice skating. Have you ever tried some of those fancy steps on a slim blade of steel? I have, and it certainly isn't anything to be scoffed at. Therefore, I feel confident that those of us who have failed in mastering this sport completely realize what the Icicles have accomplished during the past year.

Letter Men Organize Into New "C" Club

The newly-organized "C" Club of about fifty members has really gotten off to a good start this year. Dropped in 1937, several attempts have been made to start it again, but for some reason a successful plan could not be found to be put in use. Any boy was eligible who had earned a letter in football, basketball, tennis, golf, or track. Two sophomores were entitled to membership in this club this year.

Starting out with the "C" Club Dance, the club gave the student body an idea of just what to expect from them this year, and they most certainly lived up to the success which started them off all during the year.

There was no regular meeting night, but the president, Bernard Bailey, together with his officers, Kenny Hiezer, vice-president, and Eddie Troxel, secretary-treasurer, or Mr. Eddie Wagner, sponsor of the group, was able to call a meeting at any time. Congratulations on your success, fellas.

Wild beauties of nature inspire students to greater thought and action.

L'Atelier Members Regret Loss of Sponsor

L'Atelier, the Art Club, has much to be proud of in this year's work! The float, sponsored by the club and the Masque and Sandal Club, walked off with first prize in the Pow Wow parade. As a part of the club's contributions to the Christmas spirit, the members painted the beautiful Nativity scene which was displayed on the roof of C. S. H. S. during the festive days of December. Mr. Robert Monroe, the sponsor of the club, was summoned to join the millions of others in the army. All the members of L'Atelier extend their heartiest wishes to him, and they sincerely hope that he will be back with them soon.

Replacing Mr. Monroe is Mrs. Galbraith, who is a talented and interesting teacher, and is well liked by her students. Helping Mrs. Galbraith to govern L'Atelier are the officers of the club, John Hipp, president; Turza Briscoe, vice-president; Marcella Maloney, secretary; Wayne Keeton, recorder; and John Dellacroce, treasurer.

Nothing suits a L'Atelier member better than to get into some old clothes, tuck an easel and paint brush under an arm, and trudge off into the mountains with the rest of the club on one of the club's frequent sketching tours.

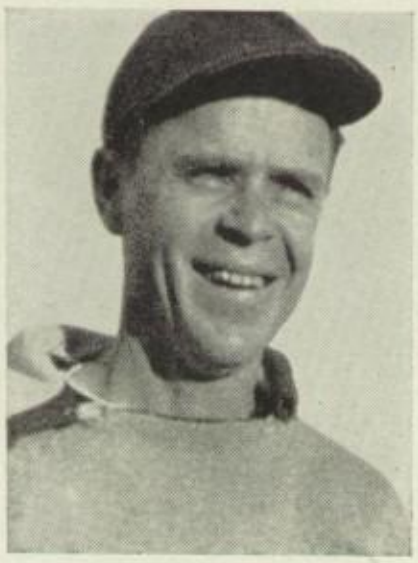
PREPARED For

Could there be a better place to gain coordination, protect our health, or train a sense of fair play than in the rigorous competition of athletics? Those who train on the football field, the basketball floor have an added chance for success. We are fast learning the value of keeping physically alert and prepared for the efforts, responsibilities and jobs which we must deal with soon.

ACTION

Three New Coaches Added This Year to Gridiron Staff

Coach Eddie Wagner came to Colorado Springs High School this year as head of athletics from Wyoming where he previously coached. Eddie graduated from Colorado University in 1936, and coached in Denver, Colorado University, and Wyoming. For the first year at a new school he has done exceptionally well in turning out good teams. Coach Wagner started his career at C. S. H. S. by coaching the football squad into a fifth place over last year's last place Wagner also coached basketball.



Mason Anderson assisted Coach Wagner this year. Mason, also a new member in our school, came from Raton, New Mexico, where he was a teacher and coach. Coach Anderson was forced to leave for the army in the middle of the year, but during his stay he assisted Wagner in turning out a good football squad. He was also very instrumental in starting boxing and wrestling among the boys in the school. Mas will be greatly missed next fall.

Mason, besides being busy with his sports interests, found time to be interested in music, especially in the Colorado Springs High School Band.

Coach Eddie Allen took over the job of coaching the "B" football squad in the backfield. Eddie also coaches track and if he does as good a job this year as he has done in previous years, we are sure to have another very good team. Allen may be called to the army this summer, and if so, he will be missed very much next fall when football season rolls around.

He is experienced in this sport as he starred in it when he attended C. S. H. S. Besides coaching football and track, he has a full day in the commercial department.

Lester Hay came from Rocky Ford where he was a teacher and coached football and basketball. Coach Hay did a really swell job in coaching the "B" squad in football. Mr. Hay graduated from Greeley after he had gone to Penn College in Iowa for two years. He received a fellowship to Greeley, where he assisted in the coaching of freshman football, and also coached frosh basketball and varsity tennis. Hay coached at Brady, Nebraska, before going to Rocky Ford. Hay is going to become a very well known coach around these parts of Colorado.

He holds the state record for high school low hurdles. He teaches commercial classes at C. S. H. S., which includes office practice, stenography and shorthand.

Brown and White Gridiron Record

A Short Practice
and then to Greeley to play their first practice game in '41. The Brown and White boys played a hard game, but were unable to score and lost by a 20-0 score. Following Greeley the Terrors played Rocky Ford on the home field and defeated them 33-2. Rocky Ford scored when the Terrors recovered their fumble behind their own goal line.

The Speed
and the fast charging of the Salida Spartans were too much for the Terrors, who were unable to score while Salida got 20 points. The Terrors' running offense was stopped by the Spartans' hard charging fullback. In the second half the Terrors held Salida to only one touchdown, and played a much stronger game.

won the Terrors' second league game against Canon City by a score of 39-0. Andy Pavich, Terror fullback, ran over 80 yards to make the Terrors' first touchdown. Pavich was followed by Dawson, Elliott, and Tinsley, each going over for a touchdown, and Dawson kicked for the point after the touchdown.

Bad Breaks
outplayed the Brown and White in favor of Centennial, last year's South Central league champs. The Terrors outplayed the Bulldogs, but were beaten on blocked punts and intercepted passes for a 33-7 loss.

in the second half defeated the Florence Huskies 12-0. Bob Nicoll intercepted a pass in the third quarter, and ran 75 yards for the Brown and White's first touchdown. Later in the game the Terrors managed to push over another six points after a well-earned drive down the field. Daryl Davis, Terror end, played a very good game on defense and offense for C. S. H. S.

in favor of the Central Wildcats, and their home fields won the victory for them against our boys by a score of 46-6. Mohar stopped our offense, and Concialdi, with the help of Papish, ruined our defense. Tom Dawson, Brown and White tailback, scored our only points in the last half of the game. The Terrors dominated the second and third quarters, but were unable to run up a good score.

Heat

was a great factor in the game at Walsenburg when the Terrors were defeated 19-13. In the first half of the game Beau Siebert carried the ball to the six yard line, and from there it was carried over on plunges for the first score; Dawson missed the conversion. The Panthers then intercepted a pass and ran over half of the field for their first score, the extra point making the score 7-6. Kenny Heizer intercepted a pass and ran 72 yards for a touchdown; Nicoll's kick was good. The score at the end of the half was 13-7. In the second half the Panthers recovered a fumble for a score, to be followed by another late in the last quarter, ending the game.

Seniors

started and played a hard game for a 6-6 tie against Trinidad Miners on Thanksgiving Day. In the last game Heizer, Dawson, and other seniors, with the help of many juniors, played a rough and well-improved game.

Terror Basketballers Take Third Place

Terrors 24 Central 26

In a nip and tuck battle, the Terrors dropped a fast, rough game to the Wildcats on the latter's floor. The Terrors took a small third quarter lead, but failed to stop the last minute Central thrust.

Terrors 35 Walsenburg 29

A determined Terror quintet took the floor against the Panthers determined on revenging the Trinidad defeat of the night before. This was the night of "Terror extremes," for the Brown and White made 58 percent of their field goals, and only made one out of nineteen free throws.

The Terrors suffered the effects of over-confidence, and, consequently, fell at the hands of the steady, accurate Miners. A first quarter lead of points was the fatal blow that lost the game.

This game was just in the books for the Terrors. All through the game the Terrors took advantage of their speed over the Huskies. In the second half Florence came back fighting, but the Brown and White defense proved too much.

Terrors 31 Canon City 26

A revamped starting lineup proved to be a good move, and the Terrors walked off with their first South Central victory. The scrappy Tigers came back in the second half, but they could not overcome the big Terror lead.

Terrors' First Season With New Coach

Terrors vs. Centennial

The Brown and White's last hopes for a crack at the state title were plowed under by powerful Centennial Bulldogs by a score of 41 to 19. The Terrors, although they never gave up, were never able to penetrate the tight, determined Pueblo defense. This game decided the South Central League Championship for 1941, and turned it over to the Bulldogs. Centennial's only other defeat was at the hands of the Terrors.

Terrors 24 Centennial 15

The Terror hoopsters went into this contest as the decided underdog, but after playing the hardest, roughest, and fastest game so far this season, came through with a decided victory over the Centennial Bulldogs. The Bulldogs were undoubtedly stronger in the second half, but the Terrors failed to forfeit the game.

Terrors 39 Central 40

Friday the thirteenth held true to form for the Terrors as they met the Wildcats for the second time. Central took a ten point lead at the half that made things look very bad for the Terrors. In the second half the Terrors came back and tied the score by the third quarter. The fourth quarter was a see-saw battle with both teams out in front, but never by more than one point. The Wildcats had the last crack at the basket and they won one of the most exciting games ever seen on the court.

Terrors vs. Walsenburg

The Terrors made their last home game of the year a good one by downing the Panthers to the tune of 35 to 21. The swing was started by the Panthers, but the Terrors soon hit their stride and never lost it. Leading all through the game, save for the first basket, the Terrors made sure that they would have a respectable berth in the final South Central League standing.

Team Improves With Experience

Terrors 34 Trinidad 23

The Terrors entered the floor in this contest determined to break the jinxs that had seemingly been hovering over them for several games. Over-looking an early four-point lead by the Miners, the Brown and White came back and after a rough first half had the score tied 16-16. In the fourth quarter the Terrors rallied to win the game, putting them in a tie for second place.

Terrors vs. Florence

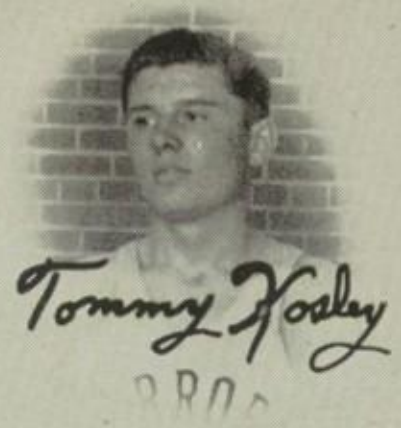
The Brown and White rang down the curtain for a successful 1941 season by downing the most improved team in the South Central League with a score of 32 to 31. It was a close, rough and fast game from start to finish. This victory insured third place for the Terrors in the final standing.

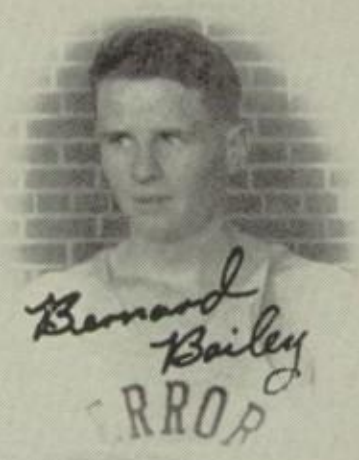
Canon City 32 Terrors 30

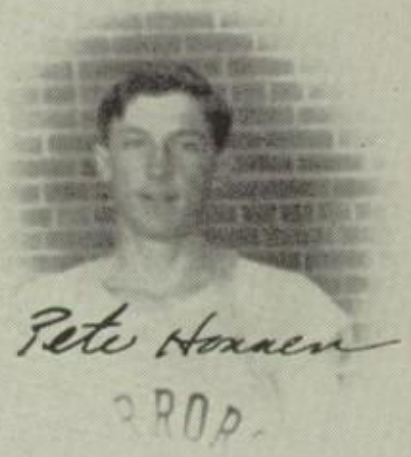
The Terrors were slow in finding the basket while Canon City was hitting from any spot on the floor. The half found the Terrors on the small end of a 17-11 score. The Terrors came back in the second half, and with only a few seconds left to play they led 28-26. Canon, however, tied up the score and the decision required an overtime, which Canon won by two points.

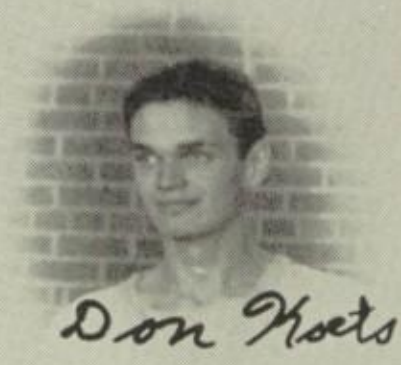
Further Success

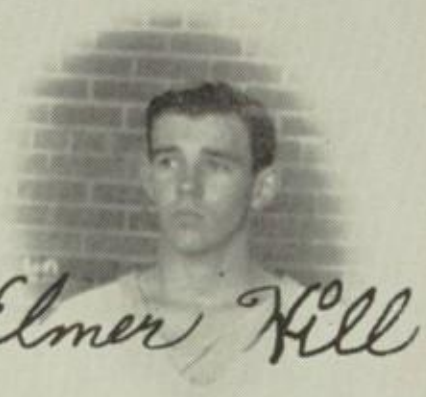
We are taking this opportunity to wish all of the fellows on the basketball squad all possible success in athletics. To the seniors, many of whom will go on to college and make a name for themselves in athletics, we the basketball fans wish to extend our appreciation for the swell games they were responsible for. From the juniors and sophomores we expect to see a hard fighting team in the future years. Don't let us down, boys.











Tracksters Have a Good Season

Terrors Place Third in First Meet

The Centennial invitational was the first real combat for C. S. H. S. The Terrors yielded only to Trinidad and Canon City by a score of 67 and 43 to our 41 1/5. Boys placing for the Terrors were Jack Kyle, third in the mile, fourth in the pole vault, and fifth in football throw to net 6 points; E. Newport got 6 points by placing first in the high jump; C. Garrett and L. Parker each took a second place to get 8 points; W. Viebrock got 4 points; Reed 3, Teague and Mann each 2, and Votaw 1. The 880 and medley relay teams got the remaining points for the Terrors.

Coach Allen's Terrors Compete in C. C. Relays

The Terrors, competing against the best teams in the state, were able to get 10¼ points to their credit. George Schnitzius took second in the 100 yard dash. E. Newport tied for second in the high jump to get 3½ points for C. S. H. S.. L. Parker managed to get 2¾ points in the pole vault; and the 440 relay, composed of Schnitzius, Garrett, Vaughn, and Kleinhans, came in fourth to get the last 2 points for the Terrors.

Terrors Take Second in South Central

The Terror tracksters came through with flying colors to take second place, when competing against the better teams of southern Colorado. The Terrors netted 39 points, while Canon City and Trinidad each took 59 points to tie for first. Boys placing in the South Central meet were: F. Reed, E. Newport, S. Nickols, W. Viebrock, and D. Teague. C. S. H. S. went to Pueblo without Carroll Garrett, who was then too old to compete in high school events.

Terrors Have First Night Meet

C. S. H. S. traveled to Canon City May 13 to compete in its first night track meet. Getting 16 1/6 points, the Terrors took fourth. Newport and Viebrock each took a first to get 10; Nelson, Nickols, Morrow, and the Terror relay team are credited for getting the other 6 1/3 points. The Terrors lost some valuable boys due to pulled tendons, and Powell broke his leg; this was all due to the bad weather conditions experienced at the Canon meet.

16 Boys Qualify for State

A large squad of boys were sent to compete in the state track meet. In order to qualify for this meet, a boy must have placed in the South Central league meet. Coach Allen sent the following boys; Frank Reed—200 low hurdle; Walter Viebrock—discus; Silcurtis Nickols and Elswick Newport—high jump, Tom Dunn; Bill Wyatt, and Jack Kyle—mile relay; Jesse Vaughn, Tom Dawson, and Bill Votaw 880 relay, George Schnitzius—100 yard dash. Schnitzius and Kyle were certified on previous records, since they were unable to participate in the South Central meet.

Congratulations and Farewell

The senior tracksters of 1941 were: Viebrock, Schnitzius, Don Teague, Votaw, and Powell. Special laurels went to Powell, who, because of the bad weather in the Canon City meet, received a broken leg while rounding a turn, and thus was lost for the remainder of the season. Juniors and sophomores made up a great part of the squad this year, and they too did their share in '41. The junior members of the squad were: Kyle, Newport, Reed, Tavenner, Mann, Mosco, and Nelson. Newport, although only a junior, was outstanding in earning points. Kyle also earned many points. The sophomores proved vital to the squad, and special mention should be made that Jim Good received the Jackson Medal, an award given each year by Mr. Jackson to the member of the squad showing the greatest improvement and for the hardest work without recognition. Thus we say farewell to the seniors and wish them all the luck possible, and to the juniors and sophomores we say, "Keep up the good work."

Pep Club Boosts School Morale

PEP CLUB

At every game, whether it be football or basketball, the Girls' Pep Club of Colorado Springs High School, seated in their specially reserved section and colorfully arrayed in their brown skirts and white jackets, can be seen rooting their heads off for good old C. S. H. S.

Although their first aim and purpose is to get out and boost school morale, they can be seen at their annual chili supper which is given to pay tribute to the football boys and coaches, patiently blowing their chili. They, too, might be sighted at the "pie" supper which they give to honor the basketball, track, and tennis teams, eagerly devouring a huge chunk of luscious cherry pie.

Twice each year the Pep Club conducts a sales campaign of football and basketball pencils to raise money for the Pep Club treasury. Betty Cook and Hazel Brokaw, after they had successfully invaded the school with their pencils, walked off with top honors in this interesting campaign.

The Pep Club is really an organization within an organization, for it was founded in 1937 by those more ambitious members of the Girls' Athletic Association who wished to show the school, and especially the athletic teams, that they were wholeheartedly supporting them.

This year, in order to enlarge the membership of the organization, the entrance requirements were lowered considerably. Elected by the Pep Club to officer the club this year were Ruth Wilson, pep head, and Hazel Brokaw, assistant pep head. With a bigger and better than ever organization the Girls' Pep Club has proved to the school that it is really "on the go." With the increased membership and swell display of pep, we are sure that this year's Pep Club was the best ever.

Not only does the G. A. A. afford an opportunity to meet girls of parallel interests, but also offers its members a well rounded health and sports program.

With hostesses Pat Thady, Eloise McCord, Pat Bonser, and Shirley Schlessinger, open house was held September 16. Another outstanding event was the Mothers' Tea, given in the Social Room on December 12.

Under Mrs. Burbrink's direction, the G. A. A. aided the Red Cross by knitting and contributing money.

At the end of the year a banquet was held to bid the seniors farewell and to bestow awards to those girls earning them.

Tennis and Golf---1941

Bad weather stopped the first tennis tournament when the South Central teams met at Monument Valley Park, but our boys won most of the matches. They won first place, due to the splendid work of Coaches McPherson and Albrecht. The Terrors played two practice games with Fountain Valley. The boys got much experience from these games as can be seen by their later record. Marvin Dunn, C. S. H. S. junior, defeated Harry Harris from West Denver for the state championship.

On May 17, C. S. H. S. golfers took fifth place. Boulder High was first with South Denver, East Denver, and Greeley preceding the Terrors. In the match at Trinidad the Terrors won first place, having netted 31½ points over Centennial's 30½ points. In April our boys took third place against four other schools. Boys scoring for C. S. H. S. were Edwards, Freeman, Stout, and Collier.

ACCUSTOMED To

In a drugstore, in the classroom, at an assembly, a forum is a healthy thing. We have lots of them, and all of them get to the roots of the problem. We like to talk things over, to make friends, do what we want to do. This is the way to get things done — to be friendly, energetic, and enthusiastic. We are all of these by nature, and we love the principles which are democracy and America.

A Day With the Terrors

Rose, Wynn, Seleen, Wilson, and Mr. Roe give the day's announcements.

Study halls are very neccssary institutions.

Chemistry class is one visited by many daily.

After lunch, trays are taken back, and all the latest news is discussed.

At session books are fished out hurriedly, and "steadies" are met.

Students pour forth soon after the bell rings.

CAMPUS LIFE With STUDENTS of CSHS

You know, when you come right down to it, this bunch around C. S. H. S. is all right. We come from different sides of town, look different from each other, and some of us even prefer hot dogs to hamburgers. In spite of these differences we are wholeheartedly united, especially in one respect, and that is the business of national defense. It is necessary at this time to be united such as we have never been before. We must be, or never again will we enjoy our American freedom. If anything can completely unite us, national defense can. We must do our part instead of shoving the job onto someone else. We must work hard, but work without play will not win the war. Most important in that phase is being in the spirit of things and keeping up morale. Now, social hours, dances, games, and just fun after school are very necessary. Smile at that friend in the hall, and, yes, even at that new girl who hooked your man last week. Now is the time to put a little wear and tear on that brotherly love you're always hearing about. In other words, around school the next most important things to classes are smiles, making friends, and lots of the ol' Terror spirit.

Picture taken, after school was interrupted for an outdoor pep meeting before the football game with Salida. If you find yourself, you're doing pretty good. . . . Terrors dance at the Barn Dance, the decorations of which were bales of hay, red lanterns, and cider barrels. P. S. —that's Pat Thady smiling over there. . . . When school starts, we're all glad to be with our friends, and especially after school, just as this bunch seems to be. . . . Some of the bunch get together for a coke after school.

One of the big dances of the year was the Pow Wow Dance held at the Hawaiian Village. . . . Lucky Terrors leave promptly after school. Can't understand it—no make-up tests or anything—? . . . At the Holly Hop everyone gathers 'round to hear Handke's band. . . . We don't know what the subject of the discussion is, but from the look on Joe's face, maybe he's it. . . . This couldn't be some of us crashing a football game, or could it? . . . The Art Club goes on a Saturday sketching trip in the Canon. . . . Another shot of that swell Barn Dance in the gym. POW WOW DAY Is Celebrated With GAME, DANCE, BONFIRE and PARADE

The band marches down town in the Pow Wow Parade.

7:00 A. M.—An alarm sounds very disturbingly, and you think, "Oh, heck, just another school day. Oh. wait a minute, isn't this—it surely is—it's Pow Wow Day!" At this last thought you immediately scramble out of bed. You are so busy collecting your jeans and plaid shirt that you almost forget books for your first three classes (you happen to be one of the lucky float decorators). You can't concentrate in these first three periods, and then when you are dismissed. the rest of the students begin wishing they had been smart enough tc take part in the activities of the day instead of being in a school room all day. The float decorators spend the rest of the time running about looking for hammers, cutting crepe-paper, and painting signs.

3:00 P. M.—School is out, and the big parade follows. After a final adjustment to a sign or a streamer, the floats and cars line up with Miss Terror, Dixie Hadley, and Anabel Law and Lois Jean Wright as attendants, leading. The band led the parade, and such a parade! It was one of the largest and most colorful that the Terrors have had.

6:30 P. M.—The Terrors gathered near Spencer Penrose Stadium for a huge bonfire which lasted until almost 8:00, at which time our annual Pow Wow game was played. Although the game was lost to the Red and Whites of Centennial, we could still sing "Cheer for the Terrors" with our hearts in it, because our team gave all they had.

10:30 P. M.—Everyone who was able, after such an exciting pace all day, went over to the Hawaiian Village for the final feature of the day—the Pow Wow Dance. After the dance the Terrors were content to go home tired, but with no regrets because everybody had a wonderful time.

CHRISTMAS CONVOCATION Is MAIN EVENT of HOLIDAY SEASON

Plenty of good old-fashioned Christmas cheer found its way into the hearts of all Terrors this year. Students who planned such things as the Holly Hop, the life-sized Christmas figures, and the holly corsages made by the Social Committee for the Christmas formal, undoubtedly received more enjoyment than those who merely looked on.

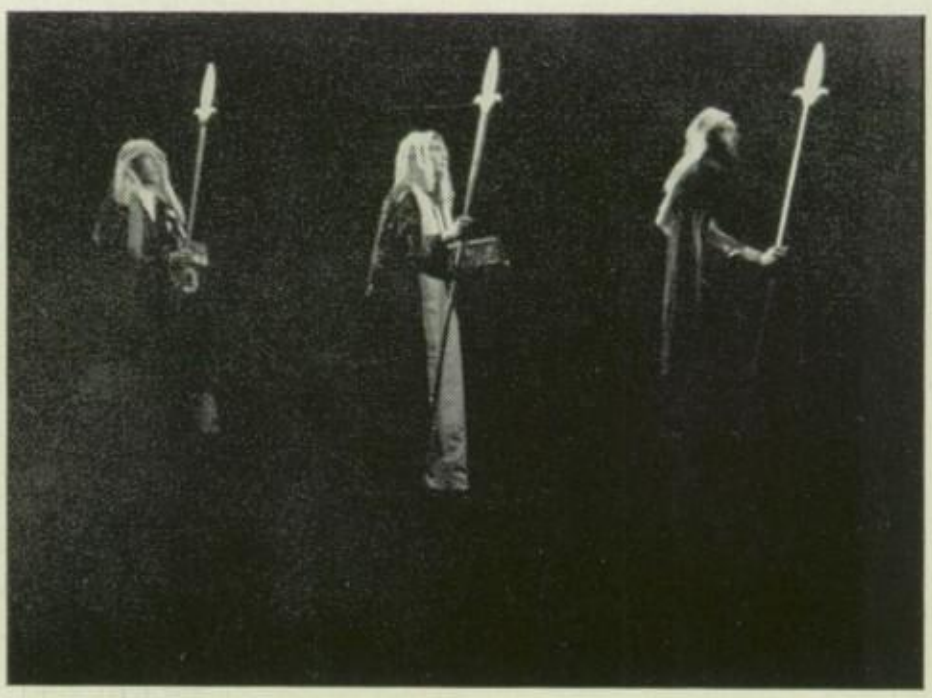
The Art Club designed and painted the life-sized figures of Mary, the wisemen, and the angels. The woodwork class cut them out and the Cabinet completed the job by arranging them on the roof.

The Nativity, which is traditional and held at the city auditorium, was superb in that it gave to all attending the true spirit of "peace on earth, good will toward men." The program consisted of beautiful tableaux and Christmas carols sung by a large choir made up of the choirs from all the junior high schools and the A Cappella Choir from C. S. H. S.

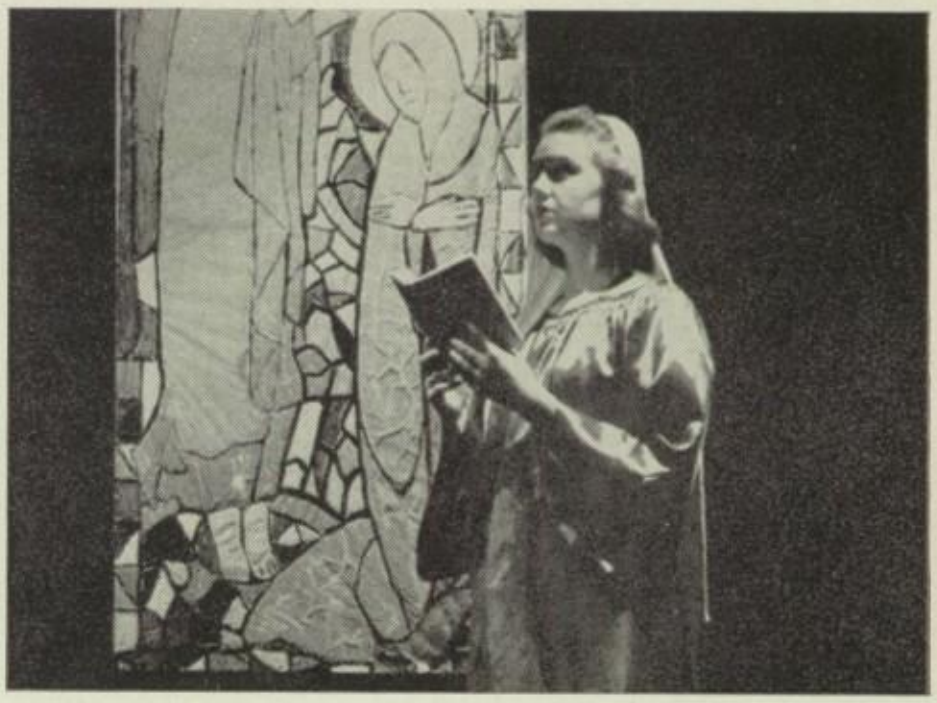
An impressive Christmas service was held in our school auditorium for the benefit of all students, especially those who were unable to attend the Nativity at the city auditorium. The students entered to the traditional processional, "Veni, Veni, Emmanuel," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "The First Nowell," and "O

The carol, "Silent Night," was sung with one of the most beautiful tableaux. McMurray, Bunnell, Ward, Loomis, Dragosh, and Calderone portrayed the angels.

The simple beauty of this tableau is accented by the carol, "We Three Kings of Orient Are." Ivan Wood, Kenneth Tevebaugh, and Don Roe were the three kings.



One of the most impressive scenes in the Christmas Convocation was Mary and the wisemen. Pupils taking part are Ivan Wood, Lois Shepherd, and Darwin Seleen.



Margaret Stark was the sole participant in this scene which was accompanied by, "Ave Maria," sung by all the choirs under the direction of Mr. Don Haley.

Come All Ye Faithful," were sung by the entire student body. Immediately following this came the chorologue and tableaux based on the Gospel Story.

Probably the most eagerly awaited dance in ever so long was the Holly Hop. Everyone from sophomores to seniors, including many faculty men and their wives, put on their best bib and tucker, and spent the evening dancing to the music of Fred Handke's band at the Cliff House. The Cabinet had previously ordered a shipment of holly, which was made into corsages by the girls of the Social Committee. The only sad thing about these corsages was that a few of the girls were unable to stand the prickly leaves against their maidenly shoulders.

This year Mrs. Hunter consented to read Dickens' "Christmas Carol" in the Social Room, after which spiced tea and fancy cookies were served buffet style to the guests. Mrs. Hunter's very enjoyable reading of the "Christmas Carol" gave to all who heard it a finer conception of the true Christmas spirit Terrors relax from the general bustle of the Christmas season and spend an exciting evening dancing to Handke's Band at the Cliff House. To add to the holiday spirit of the dance, sprigs of mistletoe were hung in places not easily detected by the belles of the ball.

TERRORS are PATRIOTIC and FUN LOVING

We all know that so many things we enjoyed a year ago are now trivial, and we willingly lay them aside and focus our attention on the problems of our nation. This is the attitude the Terrors are taking in trying to do their bit. The Terrors are supporting what their country and school does. As Americans they know what we are up against and have modified fun to fit it.

Basketball games and school plays are being attended more. Not only to their country are they patriotic, but also to their school as much as ever, perhaps more so, because in critical times, we all feel the need for something substantial. Colorado Springs High School is just about the most satisfying thing in our daily life.

The election this year was patterned after our national elections, for only students registered as members of precincts could participate in the election. The collection of books was a contest such as has never been witnessed before. The result was the collection of over 5,200 books for the soldiers. Boys and girls have stopped coming to school in the family car; more now ride their bicycles. Much to the approval of the students, a stamp book with one defense stamp in it was given each girl at the Valentine-Patriotic Dance. Regardless of a few adjustments in our daily life and habits, school life still remains to be seen as a lot of teen-agers trying their best to be good Americans, and having fun doing it.

Defense Stamps Win Over Cokes and Candy Bars

The election this year was conducted in the same manner as that of our nation's elections, complete with polls and ballot box.

The Victory Book Campaign was a tremendous success, resulting in the collection of over 5,200 books by all the precincts.

SENIORS RETURN TO Younger Years on KID DAY

Most of us, once in a while, would like to return to those days when we roller skated, played dolls, and did red hot peppers jumping rope. All seniors must have had this desire in years gone by and be expected to have it in years to come, or Kid Day would never have been invented. It is a day much awaited by all, especially by the sophomores, and juniors who have to go to their classes after seeing all the long-legged seniors attired in rompers and little checked dresses. It is a day when all seniors are eager to lay aside for one day their adult responsibilities and resume childish delights of their younger years.

After all the seniors had inspected everyone else's get-up, the procession to Monument Valley Park was led by Tom Dawson, president of the student body, and Bob Nicoll, senior class president. Although the air was a bit chilly and snow covered the ground, the rest of the morning was spent in childish antics on swings, slides, teeters, a merry-go-round, and roller skates.

Toward noon all the "kids" filed back to school and up to the cafeteria. There a lunch of hot dogs, potato salad, pie, and Pepsi Cola was prepared and served by fond mothers.

After lunch a pie eating contest was held in the gym. Ken Heizer proved to be the fastest pie eater, and for his work was awarded a defense stamp. The faces of many of the boys were recognized as cherry, blackberry, or apple. Some couples tried to dance, but were unable to distinguish between notes of music and shouts of glee; jumping rope and games of tag interfered. They got in your hair, the suckers and candy, of course.

At 9:00 p. m. the senior "kids" and other students of C. S. H. S. danced to the music of Handke's Band at the Kid Day Dance held in the gym. After a very exciting, but exhausting day everyone went home to bed tired, but satisfied that being an adult is the sanest after all.

Mr. Bischof, senior class sponsor, tries to call the excited funsters to attention. . . . In spite of the chilly day the seniors are eager to start for Monument Valley Park. . . . Nicoll, Teague, Cave, Bailey, and Caduff. . . . When Kramer, Hunt, and Breard were asked what they were fishing for, they simply replied, "a sucker." . . . After a hard play in the park, the seniors enjoy a picnic lunch prepared by the senior mothers.

Cooper, Williams, Buckley, Heizer, Mourning, Renberg, Knight, and Carter protect some mysterious fishermen. . . . Pat Grissom, senior vice-president, presents Dick Teague with the prize for the most attractive boy. . . . Carol Brooks and Dixie Hadley won the prizes for the cutest twins. . . . PEP is the keynote of the color guard, cheer leaders

If there is any organizataion in school capable of raising a good crop of goose flesh on the entire student body, it's the Color Guard. The Color Guard, newly organized, is well known to all by its military uniforms of navy blue coats and hats and white trousers. When the foursome make an appearance in assemblies and the students rise in respect to our flag, it is a feeling that can never be equalled by anything else. Although the Color Guard was organized last year by one of the boys who had had military academy training before coming to C. S. H. S., it did not appear until this year. The four members of the Color Guard are Marvin Huddleston, Gerald Miller, Howard Prather, and George Evancich.

An important addition to the Colorado Springs High School Band are the flag swingers. They are a little older than the Color Guard, this being the second year they have been organized. The flag swingers' outfits are very patriotic as they are red, white, and blue. Their flags are three large stripes of the same colors. Mrs. Teresa Burbrink, their sponsor and instructor, helps them work out routines and different twirls.

Another important feature of the band, just as the flag swingers, is that of the six majorettes. They are Helen Alice Brough, Gwendolyn Cooper, Katherine Riley, Marian Novak, Muriel Schlessinger, and Lois Jean Wright. Jerry Eppley is the competent drum major who drills the band and helps them work out counter marches and new quarter wheels. The majorettes and the drum major can be seen almost any nice Friday morning practicing with the band. Not much of this can be done during the winter, but occasionally they get out their batons and give them a twirl or two, so as not to lose their skill in twirling.

flag swingers, and twirlers

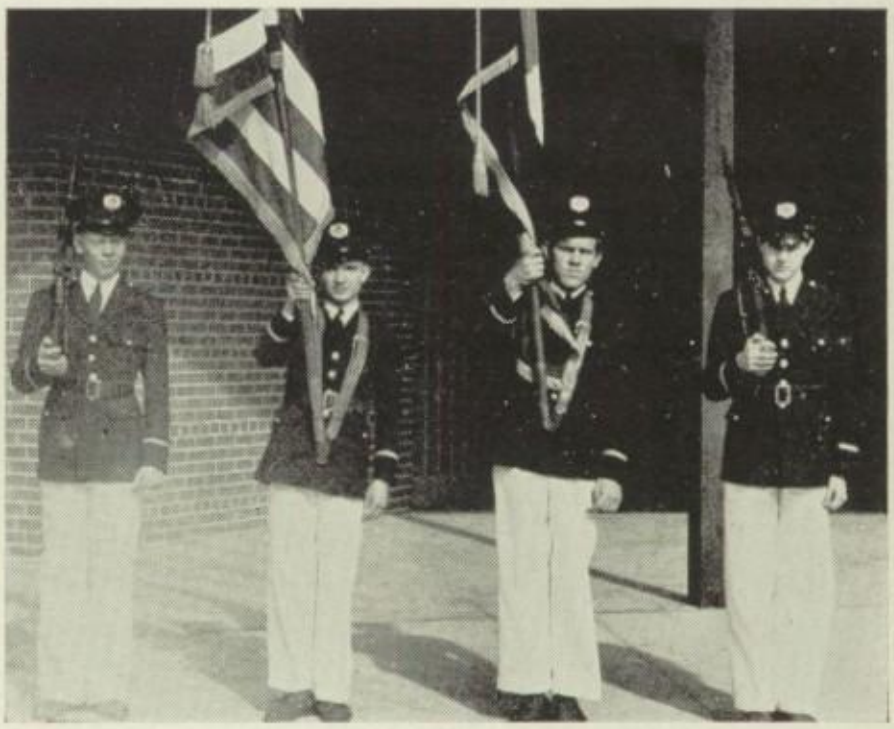
Their military uniforms are brown and white, the school colors. The drum major's uniform is light and navy blue, matching those of the members of the band.

Now for the cheer leaders, that trio who makes you want to yell—they were elected by the student body and are the pepper-uppers of assemblies and all pep meetings before athletic games. They are on hand at all football games and never miss being on hand in the gym during a baketball game. The cheer leaders of C. S. H. S. are Patte Robinson, Morey Wilbur, and Everett Klinker. Our school is indeed fortunate to have students as capable as these for leaders in every variety of pep. The zest of this energetic trio certainly helps increase our school morale and spirit.

Cheer leaders Morey Wilbur, Patte Robinson, and Everett Klinker must practice to obtain perfect harmony.



These boys, Howard Prather, Gerald Miller, George Evancich, and Marvin Huddleston, are the Color Guards of C. S. H. S.

The flag swingers shown here are Printz, Brakaw, Hagge, Cheever, Williams, Bonser, Hunkeke, Schlessinger, and McCord.

an Under-Grad

What's so different about an Under-Grad? Well, we'll sum it up this way . . You're young, and so is Under-Grad, meaning that they never miss in giving you what you want. Look at these style-packed arrivals . . . the longer jackets with low-pitched pockets . . . ticket pockets . . long rolling lapels . . the new snap top trouser . . . etc., etc., etc. Now you know you just don't find all these ideas in other clothes, much less the individual Cheviots and Shetlands.

The Natural Place to Gather
After School!

We extend our sincere

Congratulations To the Class of 1942

After High School, the next important question for you to decide is whether "to go, or not to go, on to College?" When your answer is yes, as it should be, the next most important question is,

HOW TO CHOOSE A SCHOOL!

Choose a School That Will Give You a PRACTICAL EDUCATION:

The Blair Business College gives a special training for Civil Service examinations, Bookkeeping and Accounting, Shorthand, Office Machines, Secretarial Filing, Business Management and Administration, Typewriting, Business Law, Commercial Mathematics and Salesmanship.

Choose a School With Prestige:

We are constantly receiving calls from business men. We place them as rapidly as our specialized training will permit.

Choose a Successful School:

In an environment of success you will absorb the spirit of success. Ours is a modern school with modern methods of teaching that take you toward business success.

Choose a School of Character:

Our faculty is chosen from men and women of the highest type and qualifications.

We extend to you a cordial invitation to visit the
